MAY REFUSE ALL BIDS FOR SALE OF SHIPS

Many Reasons Being Advanced for Rejecting Merchant Marine Offers

PROTECT FREIGHT RATE

Many Believe U. S. Should Be Prepared to Protect Native Shipper

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1926 by the Post Pub. Co. Washington—Will the government really get out of the shipping business or linger in it indefinitely? It begins to look as if the bids recently submitted for the purchase of the United States lines and the American merchant lines, including such vessels as the Leviathan and the George Washington, will not be accepted.

All sorts of reasons are being advanced for the rejection of the bids, particularly because of cumbersome provisions relating to mail contracts and the alleged insufficiency of price, but basically it is a question of whether the shipping board is prepared to liquidate itself. For its main activity would be taken away if the ships were sold and there is a school of thought which believes that as ocean tonnage grows more precious the American government ought to be in a position to step in and protect the American shipper against excessive ocean freight rates.

SAF FOREIGNERS MAKE RATES

There is another school which insists that so long as the government controls shipping is retained and no program for replacement is adopted, the manipulation of rates will continue in the hands of foreign ship owners.

The shipping board has control of approximately $30,000,000 of funds but cannot buy or build ships with this appropriation. It can only lend to other companies or individuals who will build vessels. If much of this money is used in carrying out the program provided in the present bids, the influence of the board on the shipping diminished in the opinion of some of the independent shipping interests.

SHORTEST ON ATLANTIC

Since the British coal strike there has been a big shortage of Atlantic shipping because so many vessels have been used in direct transportation of fuel to England and freight rates have gone up sharply. This scarcity of ships has held back the handling of exports of American wheat and cotton and in turn has meant that American producers have been compelled to accept lower prices for their crops since in effect they pay the freight.

The farming interests of the country are therefore more vitally concerned in the settlement of the matter than they have been in recent years. Heretofore there has been scant interest manifested in the middle west and west in the preservation of an American merchant marine—at least much less interest than has been exhibited on the seaboard and in the larger cities. President Coolidge has let it be known that he is not going to interfere with the activities of the shipping board, leaving it to the commissioners to evolve a policy based on the facts as presented to them by the parties in controversy. The board meanwhile has announced that it will continue for two weeks longer to study the present bids, taking definite action at the end of that period. The purpose of the delay is to give the Littlers another opportunity to conform to the wishes of the government, as it is hoped that some proposition that can be accepted may yet be presented.

Mr. Coolidge is under considerable pressure to take a hand and persuade the board to sell the ships but he has not indicated that he would do so. In his speeches and messages, he has declared himself as opposed to the government staying in the shipping business.

SIMPSON TO ASK INQUIRY BY GOVERNOR

Prosecutor Forecasts Acquittal and Asks Probe of Court Trial

Courthouse, Somerville, N. J.—(AP)—Summing for the defense in the Hall Mills case will be concluded Thursday afternoon with indications that the argument for the state will not be made until Friday.

Clarence E. Case had spoken for one hour and a half at the luncheon recess following Robert H. McCarter, who finished his address soon after court opened. It was expected Mr. Case would speak for another hour and 30 minutes in the afternoon in which event Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor, will ask that his summing of the state be deferred until Friday. It seemed certain that the case would be given to the jury early Friday afternoon.

WANTS COUNTY INQUIRY

As the murder trial neared an end Thursday with a verdict of acquittal forecast by the prosecution, attention was centered in a request by Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson for an investigation of the administration of justice in Somerset co. Simpson telephoned to Governor Moore in Trenton from Jersey City Wednesday night after his motion for a mistrial had been denied.

Simpson said, regarding his talk with the governor, "in my opinion and according to the evidence of detectives, the jury in the Hall-Mills case should not be permitted to pass on the case. In view of the fact that the jury will be permitted to deliberate on the evidence, despite what was all

"What did we do with them?" Haskin repeated when sought for an interview. "Well, first we brought the trail for them to Boston, where Warren Davis, who runs a resort there filled 'em up with turkey and trimmings.' And then we led 'em to the hot springs there and helped 'em to thaw out—and that was all there was to it."

"I hope you gentlemen won't be fooled by that theatrical display that day she was brought here."

LASHES PROSECUTION

Robert McCarter of defense counsel, resuming his summing up before the jury Friday morning lashed the prosecution for bringing Mrs. Jane Gibson, state's star witness, into the courtroom on a stretcher and having her testify from a sick bed. Explaining that Clarence E. Case, another defense attorney, would deal in detail with Mrs. Gibson's story, McCarter, after referring repeatedly to the state's star witness as "the pig woman," said: "I hope you gentlemen won't be fooled by that theatrical display that day she was brought here."

FIND TWO BODIES

With Minnesota blanketed with snow and chilled by gusty winds, Clyde Gaskill, 45, was found frozen to death near Austin, while at Chicago the body of Andres Kortjek was found huddled along the Illinois Central railroad tracks. Rescue of 31 automobiles marooned for two days by snow drifts in the sierras served the motive for the crime. He urged the Jermyns to read carefully the letters which Mr. Hall had written Mrs. Mills from his vacation place in Maine a few weeks before the killing. "Unconsciously," said McCarter, "those letters contradict the state's attempt to prove a motive."

LENA IS VISITOR AT HOME OF STILLMANS

New York—(AP)—Lena Wilson Foster, sweetheart of Bud Stillman, is visiting in the fashionable Park Avenue home of his recently reconciled parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stillman. Bud rushed home from Princeton as soon as he heard of the arrival and now the whole family is together again, including Baby Guy who, the elder Stillman claimed in his sensational divorce suit, was the child of an Indian guide of Grand Anse, Quebec. "But," met Miss Wilson at Grand Anse where she occasionally was employed on the Stillman estate. Her family lives in a small cottage nearby.

Bettors accidentally shot himself in the face Nov. 19 as he was preparing to go to his hunting camp.

MEN FACE 70 COUNTS IN SWINDLE CHARGE

Milwaukee—(AP)—Arraignment of two Milwaukee businessmen, who are alleged to have obtained $62,000 through a swindle, was scheduled for Thursday. R. A. Kolsdorf and H. A. Phillips of the Kohlsdorf-Phillips company, automobile sales agency, are facing 70 counts. The warrant on which they were arrested is one of the longest ever prepared here. The state charges the men obtained money by means of fraudulent mortgages.

Rochester, Minn.—(AP)—Leo J. Sexton, 34, eldest son of M. H. Sexton of Rock Island, Ill., president of the National Association of Professional Baseball clubs, the minor league organization, died Thursday in St. Mary's hospital. Matrimonial Ship Of Chaplins Is On Rocks

Los Angeles—(AP)—The second matrimonial ship to be launched by Charles Chaplin is on the rocks but the motion picture star is making efforts to salvage the wreck. This first became known Wednesday when Mrs. Lita Grey Chaplin made known that she had taken her two children and left the actor's home. She declared she had no intention of returning. She said she and the children had gone to live with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Curry of Beverly Hills.

The separation she said followed a disagreement with Chaplin during a party given in their Beverly Hills home last Monday night in honor of Baron and Baroness Mille Do Precourt, shipboard acquaintances whom she met on her return voyage from

Old Mushers Save Lives Of Caravan Of Tourists

Tonopah, Nev.—(AP)—Two score or more of California bound tourists, who were trapped in a blizzard at Montgomery Pass, in the high Sierras near here, are alive Thursday only because of their heroic efforts of two oldtime mushers, who effected their rescue when death seemed imminent because of cold and starvation.

Three motor caravan, on its way to balmy Southern California to spend the winter far away from snow and cold, was caught in the pass in one of the worst storms in years. There were 31 automobiles in the group.

For two days the hapless motorists remained snowbound in the pass, without food, blue with cold and even burning trunks and other personal effects in a futile effort to escape the freezing temperature.

Meanwhile Dan Haskin and Farington, veteran figures of the west, were pushing through with the motor stage to Bishop, Nev., unaware of the beleaguered motorists ahead. They came upon 22 of the stranded cars and 9 other machines almost covered with snow, were encountered a short distance farther on.

"What did we do with them?" Haskin repeated when sought for an interview. "Well, first we brought the trail for them to Boston, where Warren Davis, who runs a resort there filled 'em up with turkey and trimmings.' And then we led 'em to the hot springs there and helped 'em to thaw out—and that was all there was to it."

On the liquor issue, Ferguson, Conservative, can count on the support of four Independent-Liberals leaders who broke away from W. E. N. Sinclair, the Liberal opposition leader and the solitary labor member elected. With one district missing, the standing of the parties in the legislature was Conservatives, 75; Liberals, 14; Progressives, 12; Liberal-Progressives, 5; Independent Liberals, 4; Labor, 1.

In the old house the Conservatives had 76 members. Mr. Ferguson carried into office with him all the members of his cabinet except T. J. Jamison, minister without portfolio.

The premier had a majority of 1,234 in his constituency, while Mr. Sinclair received a majority of 2,513 in his home district.

SENTENCED TO PRISON; FACES SECOND CHARGE

Toronto—(AP)—The province of Ontario, dry for 10 years, has gone wet. In elections held Wednesday throughout the province for the 112 seats in the legislature, at least 80 members pledged to support Premier G. Howard Ferguson's policy for government control of the sale of spirits and beer, were elected. Only one constituency remained to be heard from.

DEATH SUMMONS PIONEER MERCHANT

N. C. Schommer Dies Unexpectedly at His Home Thursday Morning

Nicholas C. Schommer, 69, pioneer furniture merchant and undertaker here, died unexpectedly at his home, 523 W. Seventh, about 9 o'clock Thursday morning. Mr. Schommer had been ill for about 15 months but late months had been able to be about the house. Thursday morning he was up and around just a short time before his death.

Funeral arrangements are not definite but it is probable the services will be held on Monday morning.

The body will rest in state at the Schommer Funeral home, 50 Washington-st., members of the family announced Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Schommer came to Appleton more than 40 years ago from Chicago where he was born in 1857. He spent his boyhood in Chicago and at the age of 14 started work in a furniture factory. After he came to Appleton he was engaged in the furniture business with his father-in-law, the late M. Bedessem, for about 15 years and in 1897 he went into business for himself as a furniture merchant and undertaker. The furniture business was discontinued about 1907 and Mr. Schommer devoted his time to his undertaking business and later an extensive art shop was established.

Mr. Schommer's health had been failing for about two years and more than a year his life was despaired of but he recovered partially.

Mr. Schommer was married in 1884 to Catherine Bedessem who died several years ago. The survivors are four daughters, Mrs. Raymond Peeters, Neenah; A. J. Hall, Appleton; M. A. J. Ackerman, Detroit and Miss Margaret, Appleton; five sons, Harry, Edgar, Herman, George, Appleton; Raymond, Los Angeles, Calif.; one brother, John Schommer, Chicago; three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Enzweiler, Mrs. Anton Henne and Mrs. Philip Wink, Chicago. Eight grandchildren also survive.

Mr. Schommer was a member of the Catholic Knights of Wisconsin, Catholic Order of Foresters, Catholic Knights of Wisconsin, St. Joseph society and Equitable Fraternal Union.

Washington—(AP)—As a way around the point of national honor which has blocked settlement of the 40-year-old Tacna-Arica controversy between Chile and Peru, Secretary Kellogg has formally proposed to both governments that the disputed provinces be ceded to landlocked Bolivia.

Under his plan he proposed that an agreement be reached on whereby Bolivia would be given the territory it had been awarded by the 1904 peace treaty and Chile would be given the area of the disputed zone.

The city of Arica also would be made "forever free port" and the territory would compensate Chile and Peru for public works constructed there and would maintain the provinces as a perpetually demilitarized zone.

CALL SPECIAL SESSION OF COUNTY BOARD FOR DEC. 10

ORDER MEETING TO CORRECT ERRORS IN HIGHWAY TAX

District Attorney's Office
Studies Law to Find Way
Out of Trouble

The Outagamie board of supervisors will meet in special session at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of Dec. 10, it was announced by County Clerk John E. Hantschel on Thursday. A call which must receive the signatures of a majority of the board was executed Thursday morning and official notice of the proposed meeting will be sent to all the supervisors, it was stated.

Repeal of the highway improvement appropriations passed at the regular fall session of the board is expected to be the principal business brought on the floor. Charges have been made, and apparently substantiated, that the county law makers exceeded their constitutional rights in appropriating more money than can be legally raised under the 2 mill tax for highway purposes it was pointed out.

FIND MISTAKE

District Attorney John A. Lonsdorf and Highway Commissioner A. G. Brusewitz journeyed to Madison for conference with representatives of the attorney general's office on Wednesday and returned with the announcement that in the attorney general's opinion a special session of the board would be required to rectify the situation precipitated in county and city circles when the city of Appleton protested against the tax levy.

Thursday morning official opinion on just what may transpire when the board goes into session could not be gleaned.

District attorney Lonsdorf intimated that several points of law are still at issue and that considerable research will be done by his office between now and the date set for opening of the

MAY FLOAT BOND

That a bond issue might be proposed to take care of the items approved in the highway program by the county's one tentative solution to carrying on road work here next year and considerable discussion as to whether such means will be offered as a solution to the tax tangle is being heard on all sides.

Officially, it is believed by persons interested in the fight between the city and county, that a bond issue could be accomplished if approved by a majority of the members of the county board.

That an entire review of the county tax situation will be forthcoming at the meeting is conceded as other errors in the budget will come up for correction.

County officials would not predict Thursday as to how long the board may remain in session but the general hope expressed is that the business can be concluded in two days or less. However, many express the opinion that later developments may prolong the gathering for several days.

SHORT ON MONEY

At present indications are that unless a bond issue is floated or other means discovered whereby the county can levy highway tax in excess of the $2 mill qualification that a very small proportion of the new road work contemplated for 1927 can be accomplished.

One suggestion has been made that the county board may repeal the present tentative program in full, then establish the legal limit under the 2-mill tax and thus provide funds for

Sciatic-Neuritis

The sciatic nerve, situated at the back of the hip joint is frequently the subject of Neuritis, giving rise to the painful disease Sciatica. The symptoms are intense pains which shoot down the thigh to the foot, often aggravated by walking, and with painful points along the course of the nerve, very tender to the touch. The disease is a very obstinate one and does not readily respond to ordinary treatment. It takes more than the usual pain sedative even to alleviate the pain. The quickest, safest and surest way to get rid of the persistent nerve racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allerhau Special Formula No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take them as directed and notice how in about 24 hours they have considerably reduced, if not entirely banished, all pain and soreness. Continue until the Neuritis has entirely disappeared and you are able to work and rest in comfort once again. Schlitz Bros. Co. keep Allerhau Special Formula No. 2 in stock all the time and sells lots of it. Mail orders filled.

When he presented the bids to the council, the city clerk reported that proposals entered by the Appleton State Bank and the Edgar Rieker Co., of Milwaukee had been received after the hour of closing.

After it had become involved in several legal technicalities, the common council Wednesday night rejected all bids for the purchase of the $50,000 Pierce Park bond issues and the $11,000 Cherry and Statests Improvement bond issue and instructed E. L. Williams, city clerk, to advertise for new bids.

The new bids will be received up to 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Each bid on the Pierce Park Improvement bonds must be accompanied by a certified check of $1,000, while bids on the street improvement bonds each require a certified accompanying check of $500, according to Mr. Williams.

POLICEMEN TO DISCARD SHIELDS FOR NEW STARS

Appleton's policemen soon will be recognized by bright new stars on their coats in place of the emblem or shield they now wear. Voting according to the recommendation of the police and license committee, the common council Wednesday night granted the request of Chief of Police George T. Price that the insignia of local police officers be changed from the shield to the star.

"The star, not the shield, is the official insignia of a police officer," he said in explaining the reason for his request.

ALDERMEN WOULD LESSEN POWER OF STATE TAX BODY

Adopt Resolution Petitioning
Legislature to Change Part of Tax Law

Believing that the Wisconsin Tax commission has "too many powers," the common council Wednesday night adopted a resolution introduced by Alderman George Richard petitioning the state legislature to change the procedure now employed in conducting evaluations.

A copy of the resolution will be sent to the Interim Tax committee at Madison, and copies also will be given to the senator and assemblyman of Outagamie co.

The resolution provides for a repeal at the words "final" and "conclusive"

in a section of the statutes pertaining

George F. Werner, general secretary of the Y. M. C. Mr. Anderson, who retired from active duty in 1921, died Monday after a two-years illness. He secured the first large contribution for the local building and was an active worker in local membership drives.

Members of the state association staff acted as bearers at the funeral. Representatives of the state board of directors, as well as laymen and secretaries from practically every large association in the state attended the funeral. Mr. Werner said, "Rev. IS OUT OF JAIL

Alleged Bank Robber Wins Freedom by Furnishing Bail

Bond of $1,000 was supplied late Wednesday for the release from custody of Paul Crouch, 705 N. Clark-st, held for preliminary hearing Saturday morning on a charge of robbing the Greenville State Bank a year ago. Otto Schmidt, cashier of the financial institution, is complainant. It is alleged that the lone bandit got more than $300 in a daring daylight raid. Several shots were fired at the fleeing man as he made his escape in an automobile.

Appleton police are making a thorough investigation of Crouch's alleged more recent activities and several persons were requested to come in to Appleton from Neenah and Menasha in an attempt to identify Crouch while he was a prisoner in the city jail.

According to Chief George T. Prim the suspect talked freely when arrested late Monday night but later repudiated his statements and asked for counsel. Attorney F. S. Bradford is representing Crouch. Assistant District Attorney Stanley Stahl appeared for the state at the arraignment but it was indicated that District Attorney John A. Lonsdorf will take personal charge of the prosecution.

Prof. Otto P. Fairfield, of the art department at Lawrence college, gave an explanatory lecture of some of the world's outstanding pictures at Russell Sage dormitory parlors Wednesday evening. Copies of art works have been arranged for an exhibit at the college for several weeks.

All Around Wisconsin

Following a series of raids on bootleg joints and resorts by a Milwaukee detective agency, indications are the Beloit police department will be given a general shakeup by the police and fire commission.

Closely following the serving of 25 warrants on resort owners as a result of the investigators' work, Bert Hogan, chief of detectives, resigned. Charges against Sven Kleven, night police captain, are now being heard by the commissioners, while Hans Anderson, a night patrolman, was dismissed by the commission this week.

A combination plant for the making of fake whisky and distributing point for illegal beer was raided at Fond du Lac late Tuesday by federal prohibition agents. Capt. John J. Runkel, proprietor of a soft drink parlor adjoining the place where the raid was made together with Harry Grusnick, Oshkosh, were arrested. Grusnick is a truck driver, who was sent by an Oshkosh soft drink parlor proprietor to buy beer.

The raiders found 53 gallons of alcohol and fake whisky and 130 fake strip stamps for whisky bottles. Possession of these stamps is a more serious offense than possession of liquor.

The agents also found 44 half barrels of beer.

Granted a stay of sentence Pat Malone, Ku Klux Klan lecturer convicted of criminal libel by a jury in Oconto circuit court, is expected to be released on bond pending review of his case by the high court.

Malone, one of the best known Klan figures in the state, was sentenced to one year in jail for his remarks concerning an Oconto priest. The bond under which he would be granted liberty pending the court hearing in February must be approved by Senator John B. Chase, Oconto county district attorney, who prosecuted the case.

NEWS OF NEENAH AND MENASHA

SOCIETY

NEENAH TAX RATE
IS FIXED AT $24
FOR COMING YEAR

Additional Taxes Will Be Collected in Three Sewer Districts

Neenah—The general tax rate for sewer districts by the city council Tuesday evening is $24 on each $1,000 of assessed valuation. An additional tax of $2 on each $1,000 will be levied in the first sewer district, $3 in the second sewer district and $1 in the third district.

The rate is divided as follows: General fund, .00714; S. H. B. fund, .000535; Industrial School fund, .000935; School fund, .01253; Street lighting fund, .000061; Poor fund, .000375; Library fund, .004434; Bridge Bond fund, .000465; School Bond fund, .000333; Water Works Bond fund, .000301; Total, .024 mills.

A move was made by Alderman William Schmidt of the Fifth ward to equalize the assessment by a $2 extra sewer tax in all three sewer districts. He admitted that there were deficits in the first and second sewer districts, $5,324.66 in the first and $18,768.42 in the second, and a balance of $2,053.18 in the third sewer district but that the deficits would take care of themselves. Alderman Martyn suggested that the districts with deficits endeavor to clean up and start with a clean slate and then an equalization should be started.

A complete audit of sewer expenses, starting when the three districts were established to ascertain just where the money had been spent and why the second district has an $18,000 deficit, was voted.

Bids were ordered for a new ambulance.

Winneconne-ave will not be included in next year's paving program, according to a report from the board of public works, which also reported that very little if any sewer work would be done next year.

N. Commercial-st will not be paved with cement from its intersection with Wisconsin-ave this year because one property owner refused to sign a petition for the improvement. Instead the pavement will stop at Canalet and in the spring the council will follow the regular procedure to finish the pavement to Wisconsin-ave.

The lowering of the tracks of the Chicago-Northwestern railway company two feet at the S. Commercial-st crossing, will be started early in the spring so as not to interfere with the pavement next summer, it was reported in a communication from the railway officials.

E. J. Lachmann, George O. Bergstrom, E. C. Arnebom, E. C. Clark and George E. Sande, ex-mayors, and J. H. Denhardt, present mayor, will have enlarged photographs of themselves added to the gallery of pictures in the council room, of all ex-mayors, according to a report from the committee on parks and public buildings.

Alderman William Schmidt, president of the council, was delegated by the mayor to attend a meeting on Dec. 9, in Appleton at which Mayor Hoan of Milwaukee will talk on state and local taxes.

Reports were presented by the police, justice and poor commissioner.

PILES DISAPPEAR WHEN TREATED FROM INSIDE

COMBINATION TREATMENT WITH INTERNAL TABLETS QUICKLY CONQUERS SEVEREST CASES

Thousands of Former Sufferers Who Had Abandoned All Hope of Relief Have Been Freed at Last by this Orgi-nal, Scientific Method

Piles, which authorities state are one of the most prevalent afflictions of the human race, are no longer regarded as a serious trouble. Unfortunate and painful they are, sparing neither old nor young, man, woman nor child; but easily and pleasantly banished by a new scientific treatment.

To this good news is added the information that the new method has been thoroughly tested and proved before such announcement could be published. In thousands of cases where victims have suffered for years and frankly given up all hope of relief, this marvelously simple method has freed them so quickly of piles that they were positively amazed.

"We are so thoroughly convinced of the merits of our treatment," say the E. R. Page Company, of Marshall, Michigan, the originators of this method, "that we do not hesitate to let

HOST OF GRAVE OPERATIONS CUT BY NEW METHOD

From Dangerous, Painful, Costly Surgery

Real Trouble Well Concealed

The Page Internal Tablet Combination Treatment, as this new method is called, quickly saves at the root of the evil, from inside and far beyond reach of the ordinary local treatments on which sufferers have been forced to rely heretofore. The real cause of piles, or hemorrhoids as they are scientifically termed, must be remedied before the slightest hope of permanent relief can even be entertained. That terrible burning, that miserable smarting, that unbearable itching and, in some cases, alarming loss of blood is obviously not the cause but merely an effect of the condition which so manifestly tests itself.

Then logically, the means which must be taken to drive piles away should include a treatment that attacks the cause. While this treatment is taking effect, it is also possible to give immediate relief from the attending pain and to prevent the local irritation and aggravation which makes piles so uncomfortable. This, the Page Treatment actually does, for it is a combination idea which heals the condition as it relieves the suffering.

A Welcome Announcement

Thousands of men, whose efficiency in the business and professional world, has been seriously impaired because of the constant discomfort of piles, will welcome news that such a method as the Page Treatment is at last obtainable. Thousands of women, whose daily duties keep them constantly active and therefore in constant pain, will hail the Page Treatment with unalloyed joy. If these sufferers will avail themselves of this wonderful discovery, it is reasonable to assume that the percentage of pile victims in this country will shortly become so greatly diminished as to be almost unworthy of mention in medical reports.

Delayed Being Operated on; Treatment Did the Work

I. H. Wallace, of Portland, Oregon, relates his experience in the following brief letter of praise. He says: "Some time ago I was bothered with the piles so badly that the doctors wanted to operate right away. About that time, however, I saw an advertisement in some paper and sent for the treatment. It helped so much that I got a full treatment and I can say that I have not been bothered with the piles since. That was more than a year ago."

Woman Freed of Long Agony by Unique New Method

After suffering untold pain and constant discomfort for 14 years, Mrs. Joe W. Kelly, of Asheville, N. C., tells how she was freed of piles by the Page Combination Treatment. In her letter of praise, she says: "I am glad to say that your treatment has entirely rid me of this terrible disease. I had suffered agony for 14 years and tried all kinds of treatments without success. Now I cannot tell you how thankful I am for this wonderful relief, and I will tell everyone whom I know to be a sufferer about this wonderful treatment."

Well After 32 Years

After 32 years, A. L. Goldstein of Cambridge Springs, Pa., is rid of piles. "I am perfectly well of my pile trouble from which I have been suffering for the past 32 years. I can say so far that all the discoveries of this century do not compare with this great discovery to free the many thousands of people suffering the torture of piles."

"You Can Try This FREE!"

Piles Can Wreck Your General Health Unless They Are Permanently Banished!

A UNIQUE PLAN OF GIVING FREE PILE TREATMENTS

Huge Sum Used to Demonstrate Merit of This New Scientific Combination Method

A decided departure from the usual promotional custom of business concerns has been inaugurated by the E. R. Page Co., of Marshall, Michigan. This company has perfected a new scientific treatment for piles, the success of which has been instantaneous, as letters received from thousands of former sufferers confirm.

At a recent meeting of the directors, a policy was adopted that would place this remarkable treatment in the hands of pile sufferers everywhere without the slightest risk or expense.

In a formal statement issued by the company, when this measure was voted upon and passed, may be seen the reason for this unusual move.

A Novel Policy

"Many concerns," the statement reads, "spend thousands of dollars annually to advertise their products to the public. These products must be bought and paid for on faith. If the purchaser is dissatisfied, it is often optional with the seller as to whether he will give the money back or satisfaction, which he is entitled to."

The policy of this company is to keep our advertising down to the very minimum that will give our product sufficient publicity. We prefer to give our patrons the benefits of this expenditure. Therefore, we agree to send every person afflicted with piles a trial package of our new Page Internal Tablet Combination Treatment. This package costs the sufferer nothing. But we feel that the money used to introduce our product is well

Free Trial Packet Ends Suffering for Many Pile Victims

So effective is the Page Combination Treatment for Piles that in many cases the trial package alone suffices to end the trouble. This after salves, ointments, suppositories and other local methods had been employed, either regularly or intermittently, often for years. Even severe cases of bleeding piles have responded quickly to this marvelous internal treatment and enabled their victims to regain health and happiness in an incredibly short time.

Results produced in literally thousands of cases show conclusively that the Page Internal Tablet Combination Treatment is not a mere theory. It is a demonstrated success. It drives away piles and it does this quickly, pleasantly, surely. You can test it free. The coupon is handy. Clip and mail it today—NOW.

Merit Justifies Plan

The Page Treatment is based on purely scientific facts that are common knowledge in professional circles. These facts prove that piles in themselves are not a cause but an effect—the natural indication of other trouble inside.

Science has also determined what the real cause is, and this new method, employing internal tablets in combination with a bowel regulator and a soothing ointment for external application, has clearly demonstrated its ability to remove the real cause of piles. Once this is accomplished, it is only natural that the piles themselves will disappear.

This system does more than is usually done for pile sufferers as it not only ends suffering practically at once but corrects those physical disorders which are at the base of the trouble.

SCIENCE FINDS LOGICAL METHOD TO TREAT PILES

Treatment Corrects Conditions
That Cause Trouble—Then Suffering Ends

"There is nothing mysterious or magical about our combination treatment," says an official of the Page Company. "It is just a logical medical campaign directed against piles and those things which cause piles. The campaign is directed both internally and externally. Not only are the piles healed and the suffering ended but when properly treated, they do not return."

The treatment being discussed was the Page Internal Tablet Combination Pile Treatment, which has so successfully rid thousands of pile suffering and agony. It consists of three medicines.

Results produced in literally thousands of cases show conclusively that the Page Internal Tablet Combination Treatment is not a mere theory. It is a demonstrated success. It drives away piles and it does this quickly, pleasantly, surely. You can test it free. The coupon is handy. Clip and mail it today—NOW.

Spent—that it proves our good faith with sufferers in not asking them to spend one cent until they have demonstrated the merits of the Page method to their own complete satisfaction."

"The war against the disorder which results in piles is now being waged by the Page Company chemists to wage war against the disorder which results in the formation of piles."

To end the suffering and intense pain, while the two tablets are doing their work, a soothing, cooling, pleasant ointment has been included. This, when applied, seems to stop the pain at once. It has been prepared in such a way that everything obnoxious and unpleasant to its application is avoided and it can be applied with the greatest ease.

This system does more than is usually done for pile sufferers as it not only ends suffering practically at once but corrects those physical disorders which are at the base of the trouble.

"Strike at Cause of Trouble," Says Man Who Spent Years Perfecting Treat- ment Which Rids Humanity of Suffering and Ill Health

The original method of pile treatment, adopted by the E. R. Page Company, proves conclusively that local applications, dilators, salves and even suppositories, can do little else than afford temporary relief and alleviate suffering for a time only. The local applications, admittedly, do not bring permanent relief.

Thousands of sufferers throughout the nation have learned by a series of very painful experiences that invariably the piles return and each repeated attack has, they say, exceeded the former in intensity of pain.

To actually heal piles so they leave forever, the condition or physical disorder, which causes the tumors, must be corrected.

Piles constitute an organic condition, and because of this they require more than local applications. The logical treatment of piles is through the internal method; by a system that affects the entire body.

Piles Are Symptoms

Physicians know that piles, themselves, are but symptoms or indications of a physical disorder that must be corrected—if the piles are to leave forever.

The people responsible for the E. R. Page Internal Tablet Combination Treatment for piles recognized this fact many years ago. They sought a type of treatment which would heal internally. They have been exceedingly successful, as thousands of people who have been rid of piles by this method will testify.

Many of these people had spent huge sums of money on operations and so-called remedies which failed utterly to permanently end their suffering. And yet, the E. R. Page Company, each day, is swamped with letters from all parts of North America, telling of the success of the pile治愈者 who thank them for not only complete relief from suffering but express sincere, heartfelt thanks for permanent freedom.

This Method Successful

The success of this internal treatment can be attributed to its being founded upon medical facts. The method has been worked out with great care and study—each part of the treatment has a specific thing to accomplish.

The bowel regulator—just a small tablet—puts the system in good order so that it can readily combat the inroads of disease which result in the intense suffering. The pile tablets are pleasant tasting and were originated to correct the condition which is responsible for the piles themselves. That it does its work well is attested to by the thousands of letters received from people who have been rid of piles by this method.

Carefully Planned

To relieve the pain and suffering while the internal tablets are doing their part, a pleasing ointment has been created so that all the obnoxious, objectionable features of application are avoided. It stops the pain almost at once. People who credit the Page Treatment with having healed them forever call it "the magical ointment".

The combination treatment leaves nothing undone. It strikes directly at the root of the condition which causes piles and gives instant relief from suffering. It goes even further, for thousands will testify that it healed their piles for all time.

It exceeds that point reached by pile remedies and many medicines in that it does all they do and more. It stops pain and suffering almost at once. People who credit the offering ends—the internal tablets are waging their war against the things that caused the piles. When that war is won and ended—the piles will leave forever.

MEDICINAL WHISKY

Physicians are divided upon the medicinal usefulness of alcoholic stimulants but the Volstead act at present backs up the opinion of those who hold that spirits are sometimes an advisable prescription. Perhaps the greatest single scandal of prohibition enforcement has grown up about this loophole and Prohibition Chief Lincoln Andrews has just proposed a new legislative scheme to stop the leak.

General Andrews points out that the Volstead act tied up sixty million gallons of whisky in warehouses and the only legal way the owners could get it out into the market was by selling it to druggists for medicinal use. The scandal of last year when scores of eastern physicians and druggists were debauched by commission men for liquor houses and entered into conspiracies to fake permits was one result. The boosting of medicinal whisky prices to nearly the level prevailing in the bootleg trade, and the adulteration of whisky sold to patients on bona fide permits, were other consequences. Warehouse men or their agents, if they had been compelled to sell only on genuine permits, would have had a very small market. As it was they put their business on a bootleg basis. Multiplied prices and lowered quality were inevitable.

The warehouse supply is now running down and will be exhausted, according to the prohibition unit, in about five years. In order to age whisky four years it will be necessary to begin manufacture now. Mr. Andrews proposes instead of permitting the distillers to refill the present warehouses and start the crooked sale process over again that the United States government by law set up a private corporation which will have the sole right to manufacture spirits and will distribute them direct to retail druggists by American Railways Express. The government then could set its scouts to watching a single spot instead of many. The new corporation would buy up all the old stocks. Whisky sold to druggists would be pure and unadulterated and would be priced according to the medical instead of the bootleg demand.

If we are to continue permitting the use of medicinal whisky we may as well see that it is good and that the honest prescription holder is not held up. And, incidentally, stop the disgraceful violation by which millions of gallons of warehouse supplies have found their way into beverage use.

LIFE FOR FOUR-TIMERS

New York state passed an interesting law recently by which if a prisoner was convicted a fourth time of felony the judge had no recourse but to sentence him for life. In other words, New York gave up hope of reforming such a man and decided the best thing to do was simply to put him out of harm's way for life at the state's expense for board and room. A judge has refused to accept the law, has sentenced a fourth-timer to but three years, and has left it up to the state to establish the right of the legislature to control his judicial judgment.

Common sense would seem to be all on the state's side. Redemption of such an habitual criminal is so doubtful that it is only fair to swing the scales of justice in society's interest and give greater weight to the thousand chances that he will commit crime again than the one chance he will reform. Investigation would probably prove that it is less costly to keep the incorrigible wrongdoer in jail than to convict him over and over again—not to mention the expense to his victims. It is to be hoped that New York's good example will not be overthrown when the test case is taken into court.

MORE KNOWLEDGE NEEDED

Recommendations for a program of education to the end that citizens may obtain a more thorough knowledge and appreciation of the problems involved in government regulation of railroads and public utilities and of the duties and responsibilities of the regulatory bodies are included in a report presented recently at the 38th annual convention of the National Association of Railway and Utilities Commissioners.

This report, which was represented in accordance with resolutions adopted at the last year's convention, includes a survey of what is now being taught in the subject in the various schools of the country. This survey, the report says, "emphasizes by repetition that regulation is either not touched upon or given an adequate presentation" in the elementary schools and the committee believes that this failure to reach the "citizens of tomorrow" is very serious, as indeed it is.

The text-books which were examined revealed not only inaccurate treatment but inadequate treatment, says the report, which goes on further to say, "Is it a matter of wonderment then that today a large percentage of our citizenship labors under a misapprehension as to the true concept of the problems that confront the bodies in which regulation is vested?"

The criticism of the committee is well justified. It is only too true that such things are not adequately or accurately taught in the public schools, because they are studying in them things considered of vastly more importance, such as solid geometry, trigonometry and kindred subjects of great practicability to the future citizen. Angles are more important than details of government, in the eyes of most school officials. It is this attitude and this policy which makes Americans so lamentably ignorant of their government and its working and it reflects but little credit upon us as a nation.

A WAY OUT

Just a few words about a new novel, written close to the world we all live in. It is "Yerney's Justice." It has been translated from the Slovenian, in which it is written by Ivan Cankar, into many languages.

Yerney was an aged farmhand. He had spent his whole life working the estate of his master, which had grown under his hands from a little miserable farm into a flourishing bit of property.

When the old master died Yerney was fired by the young heir, who hated Yerney because of his lack of servility.

Yerney went out into the world with a hatred for wealth and hot with a sense of vengeance.

There was no flaw in the logic that flowed over and over in his mind. The farm was a miserable bit of land when he began to work on it with the old master. For forty years he worked the soil, fertilized the fields and meadows, built the large white farmhouse—something of Yerney's soul remained in every bit of wood, in every stone on the place—it was part of him and he was part of it—and could young Sitar, who had done nothing at all, simply say, I am master and you must go?

The tragedy of this book on justice is "young Sitar" who does not know the incomparable worth of a worker who can toil for another and yet put his whole life into it—feels that his work is a part of him, and be a part of it."

When our complex system of capital and labor is so adjusted that the worker is enabled to work for his work's sake, as did old Yerney, without being subject to the ingratitude to which Yerney fell victim, perhaps we will hear no more of "industrial wars."

INTERRUPTIONS

I'll write me a lovely verse, said I,
Of a summer day and an azure sky.
But the telephone rang and this roused my ire:
"Mr. Brown wants to talk. Will you hold the wire?"

Ten minutes later I sat me down
Still muttering curses at Mr. Brown,
And a man came in who had bonds to sell.
He'd a speech to make and he did it well.

"I'll go to the verse once more," said I.
"I must hurry now for the time slips by."
But the telephone rang and this time I heard:
"Are you in the market for Grease, preferred?"

Back once more to my desk I sat,
But a friend dropped in for an idle chat
And though never a line of the verse was penned
I couldn't say "sat" to a smiling friend.

And the telephone rings and the agents call,
And I can't get an hour to myself at all,
Whether by day or whether by night
It's always the same when I want to write.

When my weary spirit gives up the strife
And journeys on to an simpler life,
I'll bet, as I knew at the Great White Throne,
They'll call me back to the telephone.

DON'T GET EXCITED

A girl crossing the street behind an automobile was struck by the tire carrier, on the abdomen, when the car unexpectedly backed. She fell on her feet and walked her back and forth, back and forth, for some time, the girl bent over with pain. Did these people do the proper thing? The woman who asks this question says she would have left the girl lying on the ground, spread a coat or other protection around her, and waited until the girl tried to sit up. She would have rubbed the girl's hands or feet for warmth, for she thinks heat or warmth is a good remedy for shock.

The people who walked the girl about did wrong, but they probably had some vague notion that they were keeping her alive that way. There is a more or less apocryphal treatment for opium or other narcotic poisoning which requires that the victim be kept walking about, supported if necessary by two vigorous operators. This is not to be taken very seriously; it is just old medical mystery stuff. It was a crude way to stimulate the breathing—victims of opium poisoning breath very slowly and seem to forget to breathe. There are other ways to stimulate breathing, more effective and more humane, as well as simpler to carry out. The proper way is by applying Schafer's prone pressure method of artificial respiration, a thing which any Boy Scout, Girl Scout or other intelligent, well educated child can do in an emergency. If you don't know how to do it you had better ask some Scout to show you, for it may mean the saving of a life precious to you. I can't understand how anyone with a fair sense of responsibility dare to go to bed at night ignorant of this life saving maneuver—his own loved ones may need it before morning.

How can anyone let a child die from carbon monoxide gassing, or suffocation, or asphyxiation, or drowning, or electric shock, and ever forget that, had he taken due care to learn this method of resuscitation, he might have saved that life?

The injured girl should have been left lying flat on the ground. She should have been covered with coats or blankets or whatever was available, for warmth. Rubbing any part of her body would have been good treatment, for friction not only makes warmth but stimulates and aids the circulation. Any available means of applying artificial heat—at least to the arms or to any part of the body, of course with precaution against burning, would have been good treatment. It was mischievous and dangerous to raise her up and especially to encourage her to walk. Most ignorant but somehow always officious bystanders want to make an injured person sit up. This is harmful if there is anything like fainting or shock from injury. By all means keep the victim horizontal, or better, let the body lie on an incline with the head lowest or raise only the legs.

Shock manifests itself thus: The victim, whether actually injured or only badly frightened, is pale, cold, weak, dazed or strangely quiet and unresponsive. Perhaps faint replies are made to vigorous questioning. The victim's mental function, like all other functions, is in abeyance; not necessarily unconscious, but only half conscious. The breathing is shallow and the rate slow; the pulse is weak, rapid, hard for a novice to detect at all; the pupils (dark centers) of the eyes are usually large, though this is a sign difficult for the layman to read; the skin is cold or clammy to your touch and probably covered with cold sweat, at least about the forehead.

That is a picture of shock, fainting, syncope from hemorrhage, and toned down a bit it passes very well for fright.

The first aid or emergency care of all these conditions is the same, as I have outlined above.

Often a necessary part of the treatment is an opiate which only the physician can administer. Great pain in itself may cause shock. A degree of shock is not uncommonly noted in cases of severe headache, toothache, or belly ache.

Two household or emergency remedies are generally available when shock is to be treated without medical attendance. One is aromatic spirits of ammonia, of which half a teaspoonful or glassful of cold water, every 15 minutes for an hour or two, if necessary, and if the victim is conscious enough to swallow.

Still better as a stimulant is strong hot coffee or tea. The story book stimulant, brandy or whisky, is a stimulant only in novels. The effect of alcohol is depression of the circulation, and so, as every surgeon knows, it is a dangerous narcotic to use where the circulation is already weak.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Blaming the Operation

I was operated on for appendicitis 22 years ago and ever since that time I have been troubled with constipation. (C. L. B.)

Answer—I was operated on for appendicitis 10 years ago and never since that time have I been troubled with anything worthy of mention. I can understand how you may have cultivated the constipation habit 22 years ago and kept it up ever since, but you can't make me believe that the operation had anything to do with it. This practice of blaming the operation for all subsequent troubles life may bring is reprehensible. Those of us who are probably enjoying life today only because of an operation ought to throw some very cold water on these goofs who are so fond of blaming the operation for all their real or imaginary ills. Before I had an operation all of my very own I used to take these hypocritical liars seriously. Now I know they are mostly wrong. I have been thinking heaven even since they started the ether for my operation—except for the long, long moment when the surgeon was recovering a bundle of gauze which seemed to have formed a firm attachment to my rectum.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
When JUDITH MARTIN, young college teacher, chooses ERIC WATERS, rebel senior, and others of the more unconventional college set for her friends, she makes an enemy of DEAN TIMOTHY BROWN.

DR. PETER DORN, astronomy professor, is a rival of Eric's for her favor.

MARY ALDRICH, in love with Eric, and jealous of Judith, has turned her attentions to vamping Dr. Dorn.

Eric is suspected of dealing with "KITTY" SHEA, town bootlegger, in selling poison liquor from which two students have died. Judith publicly defends him.

She is trying to blackmail the dean's wife, having discovered a love affair of hers, of which Judith also knows. Judith befriends Mrs. Brown, believing the dean tyrant.

Judith spends the Christmas holidays in Myra's sorority house. The servants go off on Christmas Eve and leave her alone in the house. She finds the back door unlocked, and shuts herself in her bedroom.

She hears shuffling footsteps on the porch under her windows. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVIII

The footsteps stopped for several moments. Then came the violent ringing of the doorbell. Judith's body relaxed somewhat. She pushed the window halfway up.

"You'll have to come in through the basement," she called. "I can't come down to let you in."

But no soft negro voice replied. There was another moment of heavy silence. Then the shuffling steps began again, and a heavy form lurched into view.

Judith fell back. But she was not quick enough. A medallion of light from an electric torch had danced across her face. Loud laughter greeted her movement. It brought her back to the window, in a desperate attempt to see the face of the man below.

Obligingly, he stepped out from the shadow of the pillar, so that the street light shone on his dark jowl, and cast a glint on his little eyes.

He was laughing still. "Come in through the basement! Ha ha! Like you to know 'Kitty' Shea never uses basement doors — except — and this ain't that kind of a ronydoo. Ha ha ha!"

Judith stirred, and called out loudly. "If you don't go away at once, I'll call the servants."

Shea laughed again. "Oh dear now, call the servants! You won't call 'em 'cause they ain't any. Ha ha ha!"

Judith could not speak. She watched the man below, as he roared with laughter, slapping his thighs and holding his fat sides.

Then he moved across the porch out of her sight again. She heard his fists on the wooden door.

Between spasms of knocking, there was silence. Then Shea began to curse. Judith put her hands over her ears to shut out the stream of filth.

But the knocking was still audible. When it stopped, she took her hands away from her ears. Shea was talking to the door knob. "There, there, I'll knock. Come on now." Then a furious rattling was followed by more blows on the door.

Judith was trembling. She thrust her head out the window to scream for help. But the sound of shivered glass froze the scream in her throat. Shea's mocking laughter grew louder. "Come in through the basement. Ha ha ha! I'll show you, my lady."

Again glass crashed on the floor of the porch. Judith threw herself across the bed and reached for the shot gun.

She thrust its barrel out the window and leaned far out herself.

"Shea," she screamed, "I'll shoot!"

He drew his head back and looked up at her. "Tain't loaded," he taunted. "Women's guns never are."

Judith leveled the gun at the top of the oak tree and pulled the trigger. There was a loud explosion. For a full moment, Shea neither spoke nor moved. As she watched, he began to drag his body toward the steps. At the edge of the top step, he fell forward, sprawling on his face.

Then, with a mighty effort, he pulled himself up again and went lurching quickly down the walk. Judith still held the gun on the window ledge. He went down the road out of sight. And in a moment, she heard the chugging of a motor.

It died away toward town.

Judith pulled the weapon in and carried it across the room. She set it up against the wall, a gesture of distaste. Then she moved the chair from the door and went into the hall.

Her finger was just tracing the number of the police station in the telephone book, when she heard singing on the street outside. The servants were coming up the walk, escorted by a mellow quartet deep in the throes of "Carry me back to old Virginia."

Judith leaned out the window and called to them. "Come in at once. There's been an attempted burglary."

Soft "oh's" and "ah's" and "Oh Lawd's" answered her. A hush fell upon the quartet, and it straggled off across the lawn.

Judith could hear the houseman and the cook talking in frightened whispers. She ran down into the lower hall to meet them.

The man was leaning against the door jamb and the cook had flopped into a chair. They were looking at her with bulging eyes. "Lawdy, miss," said the cook at last, "you-all's funnin' Shuh you is."

Judith's face was like marble. She pointed to the broken pane by the door. The two negroes turned to look at it, and she could see them start and gape at each other.

"How dared you leave the house empty without lights and with the back door wide open?" she shot at the man.

He stumbled. "The back door? Oh, no, miss."

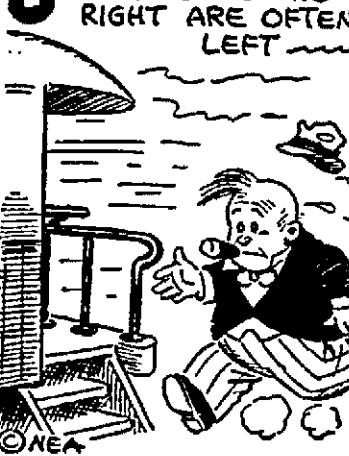

But the cook began to cry, throwing her skirt over her head. "Oh, lawdy, oh, Lawdy me."

The man struck her on the shoulder. "Shut up, Mandy."

The blow brought her to, and she uncovered her face. Her black cheeks

TELLS OF HEARINGS BY RAIL COMMISSION

American Society of Equity Hears Lewis Gettle, Head of State Body

Ashland—(P)—Cases handled by the Wisconsin Railroad commission were reviewed by Lewis E. Gettle, chairman of the commission. In an address before the American Society of Equity, here Wednesday night.

Mr. Gettle was asked by the president of the society to review the cases especially affecting rates on farm commodities. Among other cases discussed from this aspect was the application of the carriers to cancel all commodity rates on cheese. Mr. Gettle represented that in recent rate history, the carriers have been accustomed to seek rate increases apparently on free moving and largely moving commodities so as to insure certainty and continuity of revenue.

"The Wisconsin commission has felt in the effort to cancel commodity rates on cheese," Mr. Gettle said, "that the carriers acted largely by the fact of the very heavy production and movement of cheese from this state to distant markets. This case involved territory in Wisconsin lying south of a line drawn across the state from Green Bay to LaCrosse. The amount of cheese moved out of the state for 1924 was approximately 210,000,000 pounds.

The proposal of the carriers if granted would have resulted in a freight advance of approximately $155,000 each year and this would have amounted to a rate advance of about 35 per cent. The commission, in this case, showed that the earnings per ton mile in a shipment of cheese was about three and one-half times the average earnings of the railroads per ton mile on all commodities and that the carriers were really making a very handsome rate on this class of traffic. This case was decided wholly in favor of the commissioners.

The result of the referendum will be turned over to the community welfare committee, the group which will determine whether or not the system will be adopted in Appleton. The man grunted. "How you all know?" Wimmin neber shoots straight."

Judith went up the stairs with a very white face. In her room she went straight to the window and looked out, first at the oak tree and then at the spot where Shea had stood.

She turned back to the room, picked up the gun and carried it downstairs. The mulatto sat slouched in a chair opposite the door, his head sunk on his chest and his eyes shut.

The cook had fallen asleep in her chair. Judith shook her shoulder.

"Here," she said, "you'd better go to bed unless you want to relieve your brother on the watch."

The woman opened her eyes with a start and stared up at Judith.

"Ah can't go down in dat black cellophane. Mah feet won't let me. Might find t'other burglar down there."

"Very well," said Judith shortly. "Stay here then, but stay awake one of you. You can take turns and if I come down and catch you both asleep I'll see that you're both discharged."

She went upstairs and into her room. Slipping off her outer garments, she got into bed again. Before she turned the light off she picked up the small alarm clock on the table, set it by her watch and wound it. Then she set the alarm at five o'clock and snapped out the light.

When the clock rang she opened her eyes and blinked it. Outside the window it was as dark as when she had gone to sleep. She forced herself out of bed and reeled against the dresser with the vertigo of extreme fatigue. When it passed away she went through the dark hall into the bathroom and washed her face in icy water.

She went back to her room and dressed. The light was beginning to break in the sky. She sat down on the bed to wait for it and then went down the stairs on tiptoe to the sound of a snoring duet. The houseman in his chair and the cook in hers were dead to the world.

Picking her way across the hall between them, Judith softly unlocked the front door and went out. The dawn had come, but wanly, with a face like that of a fever patient.

In the ghastly light Judith went down the steps from the portico. On the wall she knelt and began to examine the cement where Shea had fallen.

(To Be Continued)

Something new apparently begins to prey upon the mind of Mrs. Timothy Brown. In the next chapter Dorn and Eric reappear, the latter with a mysterious injury.

EVERYBODY likes Southern Cocoanut Pralines and here is a dandy recipe to make them—taken from Mrs. Ida Bailey Allen's new cook book (see coupon below). Just follow this recipe:

1 cup Karo, Blue or Orange Label 2 cups confectioner's sugar
1/2 cup rich milk
1/2 cups desiccated cocoanut

Combine the Karo, sugar and milk and boil rapidly to 238 degrees F. or until a soft ball when tried in cold water. Beat until it begins to cream, add the cocoanut and drop by good-sized teaspoonsful onto pans sparingly oiled with Mazola.

SKINNY MEN THIS BEATS RECORD

He Gained 28 Pounds in 8 Weeks—Good Solid Healthy Flesh, Too

In every town in America you can see skinny, scrawny men and women with deep hollows in cheeks, neck and chest who are more to be pitied than blamed.

Doctors, Chemists, Scientists all agree that Cod Liver Oil is full of flesh building, health promoting, strength increasing virtues. They also agree and the whole world agrees with them that it is about the most evil smelling and nasty tasting, nauseating stuff that human beings come in contact with—it upsets most stomachs.

But now all that is changed—Cod Liver Oil comes in tablet form, sugar coated and as easy to take as candy.

Schlitz Bros., and druggists everywhere sell McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets with the distinct understanding that if any thin, lean, underweight man or woman takes them for 30 days and does not gain at least 5 pounds, the purchase price will be returned.

Just try them for 30 days, all you folks who need 5 or 10 pounds of good solid flesh. They have rounded out the scrawny places in thousands of people—they will help you.

Stanley E. Howe, Atlantic City, N.J. writes that he gained 28 pounds in 8 weeks and further writes, "I sleep, rest and eat and nothing bothers my nerves—I feel like a real man—thanks to McCoy's."

Judith's face was like marble. She pointed to the broken pane by the door. The two negroes turned to look at it, and she could see them start and gape at each other.

FROCK WITH MOULDED BODICE AND FULL SKIRT VERY PICTURESQUE
TAFFETA AND MOIRE LEADING MATERIALS FOR DEBUTANTE'S GOWNS

BY HENRI BENDEL
NEW YORK—Of all the silk families no two materials remain so steadfastly feminine, so alluring and so pictureque as taffeta and moire.

You can make tailored frocks and evening gowns that suggest the sport fashions of such & phantasmal material as chiffon, or such regal material as lace cloth, or velvet.

You can make a chemise frock of taffeta and sequins, and you can substitute lace to the point of mushy plumpness, but if you use taffeta or moire, you have to treat it right. You have to make an important frock. You have to use some material in it and have length as well as width in your skirt.

FASHION'S FAVORITE

With style more influenced by the Director's point of view than by practical considerations, it is to be hoped that these two fashions should be leading the fashion parade.

For more than a year now, the picture frock, with its molded bodice and full skirt has triumphed, and is constantly being developed in more exquisite color combinations.

Nothing delights us more than to costume a play, or a wedding party, and feature these frocks in rainbow colors when the women involved are tall and sylphlike. Or nothing is more depressing than the heavy-set woman abdicating this quaint style.

Photographed today are two models that are proving very successful with New York debutantes, both developed in moire. The model at the left is of pink moire banded with mulberry colored moire. Its distinctive trimming is a knot of the darker silk which forms a center panel, with ends hanging down the front. The skirt is short in front, and slim at the sides in spite of much fascinacine fullness.

FOR BRUNETS, TOO

The other model also is pink—incidentally pink is exceedingly smart now in Paris—embroidered in bands of crystals and rhinestones. This one also is short in front and swirls round the hem in a low dip.

After pink, there is a deep ivory shade, positively irresistible in moire, which particularly enhances a brunet's charms.

In taffetas, all the pastel shades are fashionable, with an emphasis on the blue shades, and black taffeta is quite the smartest thing you can possibly own. Particularly if relieved with white. White organdie and black taffeta form a classical combination, and of course black taffeta and black lace have been a standby with Spanish beauties ever since it was first introduced ages ago.

French flowers of velvet, silk or chiffon, and the ornaments of beads and crystal, as well as motifs of pearls and rhinestones are perfect trimmings for these frocks, and fancy ribbons of velvet and tissue, and gold and silver laces are very youthful.

No matter how many practical frocks one may own, it is always an evidence of feminine wisdom to own one of these gowns that makes no pretense of being anything but beautiful and ornamental.

NEW CLOTH COATS
Panels and jabot effects are featured on the newest cloth coats. Often, too, one sees a circular flounce or a tiered effect.

YOUTHFUL FROCKS
Gauze ribbons in delicate shades are used on the party frocks of the extremely young.

ONYX AND DIAMONDS
Jeweled powder-boxes become very elaborate affairs. Probably the most elegant are of onyx and diamonds.

BLACK AND WHITE
The French combine furs very attractively this season, outlining gray or black furs with a narrow line of ermine.

Farmers were speedier than government officials in Egypt this year and before the measure restricting the area to be sown could be published, they planted more acres of cotton than the new law permitted.

The K. of C. Meeting scheduled for Thurs. Eve, Dec. 2, has been postponed to Thurs. Dec. 16.

HERE ARE TWO MODELS, BOTH DEVELOPED IN MOIRE, WHICH ARE PROVING VERY POPULAR WITH NEW YORK DEBUTANTES.

CLOTHES ARE GREAT TEMPTATION

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

A NOTHER girl I've seen arrested isn't "classy"—if this girl sees all her friends for passing around clothes, other girl friends buying pretty clothes, a pretty girl friend of Washington, D. C., who can help a feeling of pity when she thinks she sees a way out and "I'll plead guilty," and the takes it—such as it is.

The story of the pretty "woman" for a foray. I do not drumming up temptation, but I should like to prevent

Well, I am glad of it. I hope the time will come that we won't get her picture in the paper at all. It is a part of our national duty to me most well-dressed girl was in the minority.

The great mass of girls on the street are well dressed now. Youth is patriotic, and it should be.

For we live now in a time of big "crowd" drops her. They are not dropped by her admirers because she which she gets her clothes as long as

BREAKFAST—Grape fruit juice, cereal, thin cream, salt codfish in cream, toasted corn bread, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Easier cheese sandwiches, head lettuce with French dressing, prun pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Cream of lima bean soup, toasted crackers, twice baked potatoes, spinach with creamed mushrooms, pea and fruit salad, cocanut custard pie, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

No meat is suggested in the dinner menu but a hearty, well balanced meal is supplied.

Sister Mary's concentrated food, the lettuce and prune pudding are imperative in the luncheon menu, any green vegetable which furnished the necessary bulk can be substituted for cabbage would be excellent. A dish of plain stewed prunes with an oatmeal cookie may be more convenient for a busy mother to serve in place of the prune, pudding.

DISHPAN AND OLD WASHSTAND STILL ARE INDISPENSABLE

Modern Conveniences Have Not Made Old Household
Articles Obsolete

Washington—Modern conveniences aren't as general as one might think. Who's have imagined that only 60 per cent of the homes in the country have stationary washbowls?—that the rest still get along with old-fashioned washstands, movable bowls and pitchers, just as in Civil War days?

The General Federation of Women's Clubs has been investigating to determine just how much the housewife's work has been lightened by up-to-date domestic equipment. The survey still is going on, but it has progressed far enough to surprise officials.

Only 75 per cent of American homes have kitchen sinks. In the other 25 per cent the dish washing is done in those big, deep tin pans that most city dwellers had supposed to be as obsolete as the bustle or hoop skirts.

In only one-third of the nation's homes are stationary washstands to be found.

As for family improvements, like electrical devices, other than lights, which are pretty general, the proportion of homes with any equipment is small.

As a rule, too, the housewife who has to do her own work has the fewest conveniences. The most convenient homes generally are the ones with servants, where the housewife wouldn't have to hew wood or draw water anyway—the conveniences are convenient for the servants, not for her.

All of which, federation officials add, is just another proof that one fraction of the world hasn't the least idea how the other fraction lives.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs' membership is largely more or less well-to-do. The members had taken it for granted that all housewives possessed kitchen sinks, with running hot and cold water and everything else that pertains to a well regulated kitchen sink.

So to these women it was a shock to discover that a quarter of the housewives in America have no such thing.

The club women of the country, according to Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, one of the leaders in this investigation, aim to put housekeeping on a business basis.

A man in business, a profession, or a trade, has to have his store or his office or his workshop up to the minute in every respect, or he can't succeed. Is his wife's working kit as up to the minute as his? If it isn't—if she's trying to run a home in 1926 on an equipment of the model of 1875—how can she succeed?

The General Federation of Women's Clubs is going to get all the necessary data and then start a crusade.

The largest ferry boat in the world is probably Pere Marquette of Lake Michigan.

Educators Hint U.S. Pays
Too Much For Its Sports

The relative value of education and sports in the public mind is discussed in a paper entitled "What Price Education?" issued by the Better Schools League, Inc., sent to the superintendent of schools. Football is associated almost wholly with our institution of learning and is conceded the leader of sports both in college and high school, it states.

This leads to speculation as to the relative position of the country's sports and its education," the league continues. "Education is the very life of the nation; sports its pastime."

"We are not belittling the value of sports in the life of the people. We recognize their unifying influence in our institutions. It is a healthful sign when our citizens grow in their love for outdoor play. There is a tendency, however, to indulge in these exercises by proxy."

"It is a fact that the nation's expenditure for spectacular sports makes the outlay for education look insignificant. We have recently completed the world baseball series which approached $1,125,000 gate receipts; our last 11, price, right, $2.00, 000; the American public paid this price for a two-man combat that lasted a total of 33 minutes and yet in this country we spent but $1,569,000,000 year to train 25,000,000 boys and girls for a fight that lasts an average of approximately 39 years and maintains.

"We believe in the mainly art of self-defense. Our conception of the greatest self-defense, either for the individual or the nation, is education. It costs less and gives more," the article concludes.

SEE SETTLEMENT IN INJUNCTION SUIT

Disposition of Case is Referred to Mayor and City Attorney by Council

The skating rink maintained by the city every winter on the First ward school playgrounds may be constructed again this winter despite the temporary injunction served upon the city last Monday by Mrs. Ida S. Brunschwiler, 224 E. Eldorado St., who resides near the grounds.

After discussing the injunction proceedings in the committee of the whole Wednesday night, the common council referred the matter to Mayor Albert C. Rule and Alfred C. Bossier, city attorney, with power to act. A settlement may be reached between Mrs. Brunschwiler and the city, as she is prepared to drop her suit upon the city's payment of her attorney's fees, it was brought out.

Injunction proceedings were instituted by her on the grounds that water, draining from the skating rink in the spring of the year, ran past her property, kept her driveway in a muddy condition for several weeks, and seeped through the foundation of her home into the cellar. Before the papers had been served on the city, the council had decided to correct this alleged weakness of the draining system next spring, but the plaintiff evidently did not know this, it is believed.

A hearing at which the city will be given the opportunity to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent is scheduled to be held next Saturday before Municipal Judge Theodore Bortz.

Advent Service

A special advent service will be held at 7:45 Thursday night at St. Matthew Lutheran church. The Rev. R. E. Ziemer, pastor of Mt. Olive Lutheran church, will preach the sermon.

This is expected to redevelop east of the mountains and cause more moderate temperature and probably stormy weather in this section tonight and Friday. The weather is still cold in the far Canadian northwest.

Shiocton—Miss Beulah Johnson entertained a number of schoolmates at her home Sunday afternoon, the event being her twelfth birthday.

The Bridge club was entertained by Mrs. Elsie Towne at her home Friday evening. Miss Clara Fisher won the honors and Mrs. Vera Meating consolation.

Mrs. Henry Jones had the misfortune to fall on an icy walk Thursday afternoon and fracture one of the bones in her right wrist.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Williams and son Walter, who have spent some time at Aspinwall, Mich., have returned home.

A large number of local hunters left early in the week for various points in the north and with few exceptions they relied upon railroads to carry them to their destinations. One local bank issued approximately fifty licenses, another about twenty. Many farmers of the community took advantage of the slackness of the season on farms and are hurrying north to get in a few days of what is expected to be an excellent season of hunting.

According to reports received by local men, game is plentiful, but there is grave doubt whether there are enough deer to go around for the unusually large number of hunters who will indulge in the sport this year.

Weather conditions thus far have been favorable. Snow in the inland counties is said to be deep enough to allow tracking the deer, thus eliminating chances of wounded deer bolting away to die.

Among the hunters from this vicinity to take out licenses were Dr. Ed Lyons and Dr. John Monsted, Jr., who left Sunday for a week in camp near Eagle River. Albert Stern Sr., and his son, Albert Jr., will hunt near Tomahawk Lake, while George Kent, Milton and George Edminster, Sherman Krake, Fred Droege, Dan O'Connell, R. and Charles Leeman and A. E. Huebner will hunt at various points further north. Other hunters known to take deer tags northward with them were Emil Moeller, Theodore Roberts, C. A. Strubow, A. A. Eisenroth, Thomas Eckland, Paul Ruckdashel, Walter Derber and Walter and R. F. Fisher.

Deer are said to be unusually tame this year, a fact which bodes ill for the fleet animal. Closed hunting seasons since 1924 has made its influence felt and it is said that during the past summer many tourists from this city saw deer feeding with cattle in northern counties.

Nearly all hunters from this locality were equipped with the customary red cap and coat which makes it simpler to distinguish between deer and humans.

BY BILLY EVANS

In making my All Big Ten selections for 1926 I have been guided by the opinions of 20 of the leading football experts of the middle west. Eight of the Big Ten coaches and an even dozen of the Western Conference football officials have lent their assistance.

On three players there was a unanimity of opinion, Benny Friedman of Michigan, Herb Joesting of Minnesota, and Benny Oosterbaan of Michigan.

That makes three positions easy. Friedman is made captain and quarterback, Oosterbaan gets one of the ends and Joesting is placed at fullback.

The selection of the backfield, therefore was not a difficult matter. "Moon" Baker of Northwestern gets one of the halfback jobs, while the other goes to Wilcox of Purdue.

In naming my All Big Ten team, I have refrained from shifting players to other positions. While there is no much difference between the duties of the modern backfield, I have considered quarterbacks as quarterbacks, halfbacks as halfbacks, and fullbacks as fullbacks.

Great a player as is Marty Karow of Ohio State, every expert gave Herb Joesting the preference as fullback, so I have placed Marty on my second team. If I were shifting players I would use Marty at one of the first team's halfback positions.

It is hard to pass up "Cotton" Wilcox, outstanding star of one of the best teams Purdue had in years. Wilcox was the greatest ground gainer in the Big Ten, did the kicking and starred in Purdue's forward pass game.

As a running mate for Oosterbaan at end there was a close race between Fisher of Northwestern and Wheeler of Minnesota, the latter being given the edge.

Shively of Illinois and Hess of Ohio State were out in front as candidates for the guards. Hess was an All-American selection last season and has continued that brand of play this fall.

"Shively is so no fighter," Hump Goostin said. "Shively is one of the best guards turned out at Illinois." He is the compliment Coach Bob Zuppke paid him in conversation with me recently. Don't forget some mighty good ones have

FEW PITCHERS WERE ABLE TO GO ROUTE

Chicago—Thus is an era of specialists in Major league baseball, if you would believe the American League averages, particularly as to pitching.

With every major league club using one pitcher almost exclusively for relief purposes, the starting pitcher had to be working in high all the time to finish his ball game.

Last season only four pitchers in the American League worked in 20 or more complete games. George Uhle showed the way with 32, a remarkable performance these days. Lyons of Chicago worked 24, Walter Johnson 22 and "Lefty" Grove 20.

Kansas City, Kan.—Peter Sarmiento, Philippines and Joe Rivers, Kansas City, drew 10.

Glen Lage, Marshalltown, Iowa, out-pointed Bobby Cox Jacksonville, Fla. 10.

been developed by the shrewd Mr. Zuppke.

Nelson was high choice for tackle with a close race between Johnson of Northwestern and Raskowski of Ohio State, the former having a slight advantage.

Three centers, Klein of Ohio State, Reitsch of Illinois and Rouse of Chicago, stood out. In counting the votes they finished in that order.

Unquestionably, the three teams selected contain the cream of the Big Ten talent. In real competition the third team selections might soundly trounce the first choice.

Classiest Outfielder In Majors Passes Out

BY BILLY EVANS

The greatest outfielder of all time. One of the smartest managers that ever piloted an American League team.

One of the few individuals in the history of baseball to have pressed Ty Cobb for the honor of being rated the greatest player the game has ever produced.

There you have my impressions of Tris Speaker, famous center fielder and manager of the Cleveland Indians, who recently resigned.

Speaker was an infinitely better fielder than Cobb. I doubt if baseball will ever see another player who will possess such uncanny judgment in handling fly balls.

Those of the old school will insist that Jimmie McAlister was just as good, if not better. It was Jimmie McAlister who put me in big league baseball — gave me the big start.

Only a few years ago he dropped into my dressing room at the Cleveland park. Speaker had performed marvelously all afternoon. He had made at least a half dozen seemingly impossible catches, including two of his copyrighted stunts, head-first dives for the ball.

"What a far a fellow would have to be to say he could play the outfield as well as that guy," was the way Jimmie paid his compliments to Speaker.

Speaker boasted a far better arm than Cobb. No baserunner ever took many chances on balls hit into his territory. It was suicide for a runner to try to score from third unless the ball was hit very deep.

"Why, he throws strikes from the outfield," is the way Done Bush, now Pittsburgh manager, once paid tribute to Speaker's arm after he had been thrown out at the plate.

Cobb was the better batsman and baserunner, but the margin, except as a baserunner, was not so very great. Speaker boasts a lifetime average in the neighborhood of .350, which best tells the story of his batting prowess.

"I never pitched to a batter who was harder to keep from hitting the ball than Speaker," was a remark I heard Christy Mathewson make at the close of the 1912 world series.

"Striking out Speaker in a pinch was just about the toughest job I ever essayed."

I note the passing of Speaker from major league ball with distinct regret. Colorful stars make baseball. Speaker was one of them. The prestige of the American League has been written around the background of such great players as Cobb, Speaker, Collins, Johnson and others of that caliber.

Cobb already has bidden the game goodbye; now comes Speaker's announcement that he is through. The status of Collins is as yet undermined and Walter Johnson hasn't much farther to go.

Outstanding stars make baseball, too. To an organization a prestige that can be attained in no other way. It is a serious blow to the American League to have so many superlative performers pass out at the same time.

A smart ball player, Speaker showed the same traits as a manager. In his second year he won for Cleveland its first pennant and only world series. Some feat.

I already have said "So Long, Tris" to Speaker I add: "Goodby, Tris."

JOHNSTON PLACED ON ALL-STAR TEAM OF OSHKOSH COACH

Fullback Makes First Squad;
Liethen and Getschow on
Second Team

Four Marinette grididers were placed on the first all-star grid squad of the valley conference for 1926 chosen by E. J. "Schmitz" Schneider, former Ripon college athletic star, and present coach at Oshkosh high school. East and West Green Bay drew two positions apiece and Fondy, Oshkosh and Appleton drew the other places. Johnston, Appleton's crack fullback, who seems to be the unanimous choice in the valley this year, drew his fourth first-team fullback job in four teams picked.

On the second team Appleton placed twice, Liethen and Getschow making the grades. Marinette, Sheboygan and Oshkosh also placed twice with West, Manitowoc and Fondy each drawing a place. Coach Schneider picked his first team exactly the same as that of the Post-Crescent with two exceptions. These two Appleton boys to the seconds and gave Steele and Becker of East their jobs. However, Liethen was chosen over Uecke, who is said to be his closest rival. Uecke failed to place. Here's Coach Schneider's dope.

"It is considered that Coach Schneider is more capable of selecting these teams, than any other person in the valley, because his Oshkosh High school team is the only one in the conference which has met every other eleven at least once this season.

The coach has seen all players named in action, and in knows their worth.

FIRST TEAM

End Quinn, West Green Bay.
Tackle Aspasia, Fond du Lac.
Guard Becker, East Green Bay.
Center Hulthen, Marinette.
Tackle Kohlman, Marinette.
Quarter Herber, West Green Bay.
Half DeTemple, Marinette.
Full Johnston, Appleton.

SECOND TEAM

End Hughes, Manitowoc.
Tackle Drahm, Oshkosh.
Guard Heinecke, Sheboygan.
Center Liethen, Appleton.
Guard Johnson, West Green Bay.
Tackle Getschow, Appleton.
End Hunting, Oshkosh.

THIRD TEAM

End Hughes, Manitowoc.
Tackle Drahm, Oshkosh.
Guard Heinecke, Sheboygan.
Center Liethen, Appleton.
Guard Johnson, West Green Bay.
Tackle Getschow, Appleton.
End Hunting, Oshkosh.

Forwards: Milton L. Diehl, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Clarence L. Folsom, Janesville; Mason Grigsby, Macomb, Ill.; Dean D. Hedrick, Peoria, Ill.; and Carl H. Matthiessen, Chicago, Ill.

Guards: Edmund A. Chmielewski, Chicago, Ill.; Arthur R. Petrie, Chicago, Ill.; George A. Steiner, Peoria, Ill.; and William Thiele, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Harold H. Roberts, Madison.

Other players on the squad are:

Centers: James H. Davies, Milwaukee; Merle H. Dunlap, Pontiac, Mich.; and Paul W. Baums, Madison.

Forwards: Gerald E. Slusher, Marion, Ill.; Judson S. E. Cross, Cleveland, Ohio; Edward L. Cass, Superior; Hyman C. Dorf, Superior; Harry J. Sarbacker, New Glarus; Lawrence L. Peterson, Osceola; Marvin Babler, Monticello; Harry F. Furlong, Milwaukee.

Guards: Gordon B. Yule, Kenosha; Robert G. Ashman, Appleton; Benjamin M. Cape, Racine; Allan E. Edgerton, Zion, Ill.; and Alex C. Nickodem, Princeton.

In choosing, Coach Schneider said, an effort was made to get a team which could play winning football under any circumstances. The backfield is composed of men who can run with the ball, punt, pass and smash the line.

It was a toss-up between Herber of West Green Bay and Testwuide of Sheboygan for the quarterback position. However, that famous passing combination, on which West scored most of their touchdowns this year, Herber to Quinn, could not be broken up.

DeTemple is one of the main reasons why Marinette has a state title claim this year. His work has been above par all season. Johnston of Appleton is that type of line-smashing fullback that every team needs. He is also a classy punter. Slewert, by virtue of ball-carrying quality and defensive work won a place for himself.

Walker fighting at the 160 pound mark, or slightly below that figure is figured to have an excellent chance of winning the title in the judgment of his followers. They view Walker as the most formidable challenger matched with Flowers since the Georgia Negro won his title.

The former welterweight champion is confident of winning.

Flowers, while not a dangerous puncher is possessed of many queer ways of throwing his fists around. He believes he is fast enough and clever enough to hold off Mickey's attack while piling up sufficient points to retain his horns.

The Negro has trained down to 160 pounds apparently without much trouble.

SHORTY'S SHOES MEET

CITIZEN BANK, DEC. 9

Little Chute—Shorty's Shoes, strong Little Chute cage squad, is going through intensive practices in preparation for a season of tough battles.

In the last game played by the Shoes for the 1926 honors. He has scored most of the Bay points this year. Steele is a fighting新闻中心 from the east side of Green Bay and Aspasia is Fondy's best bet for all-conference honors.

Coach Schneider's choices for second team are all men who have been playing good football this year, some one feature, however, holding them off the first team. Some of these men will be back next year, and will undoubtedly be holding down all-conference honors when that season is over.

VALLEY SCHOOLS MEET TO CHOOSE OFFICIALS

Officials for the 1927 basketball season of the Fox River Valley conference which starts on Jan. 8, will be selected at the winter meeting of the conference at Oshkosh Saturday. New officials for the year also will be elected. H. H. Hellie, Appleton high school principal, is retiring president of the loop.

"I never pitched to a batter who was harder to keep from hitting the ball than Speaker," was a remark I heard Christy Mathewson make at the close of the 1912 world series.

"Striking out Speaker in a pinch was just about the toughest job I ever essayed."

I note the passing of Speaker from major league ball with distinct regret. Colorful stars make baseball. Speaker was one of them. The prestige of the American League has been written around the background of such great players as Cobb, Speaker, Collins, Johnson and others of that caliber.

Each school in the conference, Oshkosh, Appleton, Marinette, Sheboygan, Manitowoc, Fond du Lac and East and West Green Bay will be represented by three men, the coach, principal and faculty athletic manager. Appleton men at the meeting will be Principal H. H. Hellie, Manager J. Raymond Walsh and Coach Joseph Shields.

Oscinating during the grid season was poor in several instances and an effort will be made to remedy this during the cage season to eliminate a great source of friction. Several Appleton men have been suggested as official in the loop and these include Myrtle Basing, Eddie Kotal and George Christoph, former Lawrence college eagles; Warren Wright and Werner Witte of the high school faculties; and H. L. Plummer, past commander of the American Legion, who handled cage games at Cadott.

Cobb already has bidden the game goodbye; now comes Speaker's announcement that he is through. The status of Collins is as yet undermined and Walter Johnson hasn't much farther to go.

Outstanding stars make baseball, too. To an organization a prestige that can be attained in no other way. It is a serious blow to the American League to have so many superlative performers pass out at the same time.

A smart ball player, Speaker showed the same traits as a manager.

In his second year he won for Cleveland its first pennant and only world series. Some feat.

I already have said "So Long, Tris" to Speaker I add: "Goodby, Tris."

OLD WELTER CHAMP TO FIGHT FLOWERS

Mickey Walker Will Try to Grab Middle Crown from Negro Titlist

Chicago—(UP)—Mickey Walker, once the world's welterweight title holder will attempt to annex the world's middleweight championship Friday night meeting Tiger Flowers, the Georgia deacon, in a ten round contest to a referee's decision.

Forward: Milton L. Diehl, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Clarence L. Folsom, Janesville; Mason Grigsby, Macomb, Ill.; Dean D. Hedrick, Peoria, Ill.; and Carl H. Matthiessen, Chicago, Ill.

Forwards: Gerald E. Slusher, Marion, Ill.; Judson S. E. Cross, Cleveland, Ohio; Edward L. Cass, Superior; Hyman C. Dorf, Superior; Harry J. Sarbacker, New Glarus; Lawrence L. Peterson, Osceola; Marvin Babler, Monticello; Harry F. Furlong, Milwaukee.

Guards: Gordon B. Yule, Kenosha; Robert G. Ashman, Appleton; Benjamin M. Cape, Racine; Allan E. Edgerton, Zion, Ill.; and Alex C. Nickodem, Princeton.

In choosing, Coach Schneider said, an effort was made to get a team which could play winning football under any circumstances. The backfield is composed of men who can run with the ball, punt, pass and smash the line.

It was a toss-up between Herber of West Green Bay and Testwuide of Sheboygan for the quarterback position. However, that famous passing combination, on which West scored most of their touchdowns this year, Herber to Quinn, could not be broken up.

Badger Hydro Power Developed Almost to Limit, Engineer Declares

"Water power in Wisconsin is about developed to the limit," according to Prof. Daniel H. Mead of the University of Wisconsin college of engineering. Wisconsin has developed 12 per cent of the nation's water power or about 45,000 horsepower. Prof. Mead declared.

That all United States power will be furnished hydro-electrically some day was classed as a foolish dream by Prof. Mead.

"The country is now using more power than can ever be developed in this country," he said. "Furthermore, about 50 per cent of the potential water power is in the Rocky Mountain states. About 50 per cent of the power users are concentrated in the northeastern states. I do not even believe we shall ever be able to successfully transmit power from the Rocky Mountains to the middle west."

The United States geological survey shows there is potential water power in the country of 34,000,000 horsepower, using the average flow to be expected 50 per cent of the time. But there is a great difference between potential possibility of water power and financial desirability of developing it. Wisconsin is about developed to the limit. There is very little remaining water power which it is practical to develop. There are almost no plants in the state which can develop hydro-electric power and transmit it to Milwaukee to compete successfully with steam-electric power developed locally.

Prof. Mead showed slides of many plants, especially in Wisconsin. He explained the automatic control of the Pine river plant, which develops about 2,000 kilowatts. Thus it is so small that its commercial value is only made possible by the automatic features, he said.

Automatic Devices

"If there is trouble in the line, this plant will start and stop itself in 17 seconds. It will do this three times. Then if conditions do not change, the plant shuts itself off and blows a large whistle which calls the attendant or resident who may be anywhere within a mile. This plant literally calls for help," Prof. Mead declared.

Showing a picture of the dam at Prairie du Sac, he pointed out the locks which the United States government had ordered built at a tremendous cost, but through which nothing but a rowboat had ever navigated.

"One of the things that makes hydraulic engineering so interesting to me is the viewing of a problem, a wild rapids in the woods, then planning what to do, how to do it, and eventually seeing it work out exactly as planned," said Prof. Mead. He admitted that most water power developments had lent no beauty to the local landscape.

Rainfall Declining

In the discussion following the meeting, Prof. Mead was asked if the declining river flows in the last 20 years signified continual diminution of water power. He replied that in his opinion it did not, and that he thought it had no connection with deforestation, which he had studied at great length.

"The rainfall has been declining in the last 20 years. That does not mean we are going to have an arid climate," said Prof. Mead. "Boston 108 years ago had a rainfall the same as now, but 50 years ago it had many years of rainfall which annually exceeded the present rainfall by 50 per cent. I do not say that this runs in cycles. That would imply that I can forecast the future rainfall, which is impossible."

"The cry about Chicago's lowering the lake is true to the extent of a few inches, but most of the lowering has been due to the diminishing rainfall."

Churchmen Want To Learn What Man In Street Thinks About Religion

New York—Today's religious symbol is not the cross nor the crescent for the lotus flower nor any traditional holy sign—but the question marks. For the first time a crusade announces that it will not seek to change any one's religious beliefs but that it simply will try to stimulate thought. It will be as "non-sectarian as the measles."

Drive headquarters are at 1 Madison avenue, New York.

HERALS NEW DRIVE

The Rev. Charles Stetzel is the herald of the new drive, the head of the church advertising department of the International Advertising Association. In the past 25 years, Dr. Stetzel has risen from a machinist's helper to a world-famed minister and social worker. The campaign, which is to extend from Christmas to Easter, will utilize the newspapers, radio, movies, billboards and every other modern publicity device to induce people to think about religion.

But principally the campaign will rely for its interest on asking questions. A questionnaire of a dozen "Do You Believe?" has been prepared for submission throughout the United States.

"I predict," Dr. Stetzel said, "that to this number of negative answers is shot through with moral principle.

The history of the church has been one of adaptation to these principles, a constant change guided by changing times.

NEEDS NEW THOUGHT

"What religion needs today is fair, constructive thought that recognizes principles and dodges precedents. Social movements will not replace religions in the hearts of people, a man can be a socialist, communist or philosophical anarchist and still be a Christian."

"The church needs new members not so much as it needs the right kind of members. It needs ministers less than it needs real prophets who can see the way ahead and know what the man in the street is trying to understand."

"I believe that the symbol of the question mark, if applied honestly by the church to itself, can work miracles comparable to those claimed by devotees for any other sign or relic."

RESTRICT ACTIVITIES OF LAWRENCE CO-EDS

Miss Edith Reeve of Appleton, has been named on a committee at Lawrence college to determine the number of extra-curricular activities and courses may carry through the year. The Woman's Self-Government association has instituted a plan whereby activities are measured by points, and no girl will be permitted to have more than a certain number of these points, as determined by the committee.

The purpose of the new system is to allow more girls to participate in extra-curricular activities on the campus and to prevent the over-loading of a few individuals as has been possible in the past. The plan will be prepared before the beginning of the next semester and will be put in use at that time, the committee said. An administrative board will enforce the rules for both town and dormitory girls.

Otherwise it will fail and would be ineffective.

"Every strike or war or crisis is shot through with moral principle. The history of the church has been one of adaptation to these principles, a constant change guided by changing times."

'GOOSE HANGS HIGH' PLAYERS ARE NAMED

Twelve Characters Selected; Business Staff Still to Be Chosen

Twelve characters have been selected for the cast of "The Goose Hangs High," a three act comedy which will be presented by the Sunset Players of Lawrence college at Lawrence Memorial Chapel Jan. 21. Miss Lucille Weitz, public speaking instructor, chose the cast and will direct the production. One other character has not been named. The business staff will be selected soon, it was said.

The parts of Mr. and Mrs. Ingalls will be played by Edward Detloff of Bloomer, and Miss Irene Elkart of Milwaukee. The Ingalls twins will be portrayed by Miss Lucille Smith of Combined Locks, and Leslie Wright of Rockford, Ill. John Walters of Green Bay, will take the part of the eldest son Hugh Ingalls, and his fiance will be played by Miss Madge Helmer of Iron River.

Others in the cast are Miss Verda Knap of Beaver Dam, Miss Dorothy Verrier of Appleton, Miss Helen Chegwin of Fond du Lac, Diehl Snyder of Baraboo, Jack Rudolph of Green Bay, and Kenneth Miles of Appleton.

Sunset Players is a dramatic organization of students which presents several one-act programs and a more elaborate work each year. "The Goose Hangs High" will be the chief production of the school year 1926-1927.

SHORT TALKS BY THOUGHTFUL MOTHERS

An Indiana mother tells this: "We find nothing to compare with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for coughs and colds. My little lad had trouble with his bronchial tubes from his third year, but since we started giving him Foley's Honey and Tar we have been able to control it. We know there is nothing to compare with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." The very name tells a story Good also for coughs. Ask for it.

Foreigners Learning Language Attract Each Other, Two Weddings a Year

In addition to teaching foreigners the English language, the Appleton Vocational School English classes for emigrants has been the agency which caused two marriages a year since the classes were started about 10 years ago, according to Mrs. M. S. Peerenboom, head of the department.

Mrs. Peerenboom said a young girl and a young man who just arrived in Appleton from some foreign country will take a fancy to each other and as they learn the English language they begin to associate more and more with each other, until finally the acquaintance results in marriage.

One instance recalled by Mrs. Peerenboom was that of a young girl and a young man who arrived in Appleton from different countries. They took a fancy to each other the first time they attended class, but as neither knew a word of the other's language they had to voice their sentiments with smiles until they had mastered English.

The friendship grew through the three years the attended vocational school. At the end of their school days they knew enough English to be able to tell each other the thought that was uppermost in the mind of each and they were married. A short time ago a short address to the students now enrolled in the classes, telling of their experiences. They told how much good their work at the school had done them and they expressed their appreciation to the teachers. Present students marveled at this mastery of English.

DON'T TEACH GRAMMAR

"We do not try to teach the foreigners grammar," said Mrs. Peerenboom. "Our aim is to teach them something that will be of practical use to them from the start. During the first year only practical English, which is used in every day life, is taught to the students."

This method of teaching is easiest and the foreigners learn much quicker than if the method used in teaching foreign languages to Americans were employed, according to Mrs. Peerenboom. After spending one night at the class the pupils are able to speak several words of English which will be of practical use to them. After three months they know enough English to carry on simple conversation and at the end of the first year many of the students have become fairly proficient. During the second and third years at school they are taught writing, some grammar, arithmetic, history, civics and many other subjects which will be of daily use. This beginning of education often inspires the men and women and many of them continue their studies beyond the local school.

ABOUT 60 STUDENTS

The local school has had a class of about 60 students each year for the past 10 years. This year there are more than 70 students enrolled in the three year courses. In the beginner's department there are 32, in the second year classes there are 18 and in the third year classes there are 25.

Teachers in the beginner's department are Mrs. Peerenboom, Maurice

Winter Motoring Increases Danger of Sliding on Streets, Prim warns

Arrangements are being completed by the chamber of commerce for an institute on family social case work to be held here within a few weeks, Hugo G. Corbett, general secretary of the chamber, announced Tuesday. The institute, probably lasting two days, is expected to consist of a series of conferences. It will be in charge of Miss Elizabeth Weintraub of Milwaukee, family social case worker of that city.

Representatives from every prominent agency in the city doing any type of relief work will be asked to attend the conferences, according to Mr. Corbett, and persons doing public and private relief work will be accorded the same invitation.

Correspondence now is being carried on between Mr. Corbett and Aubrey W. Williams, general secretary, Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, relative to the institute, and the exact dates no doubt will be announced shortly.

30 BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED IN NOVEMBER

Thirty building permits authorizing construction of building projects estimated to cost approximately $87,500 were issued last month by Walter Zschaechner, building inspector, his monthly report indicates. He granted permits for one residence at a cost of $5,000, nine garages at $1,300, 18 residences and garages at $61,370, five miscellaneous projects at $8,800, and two garage buildings at $10,500. He conducted 37 inspections in November.

17 ALIENS APPLY FOR U. S. CITIZENSHIP

Naturalization Examiner George N. Danielson will hear form petitions of 17 applicants for first citizenship papers at the courthouse on Dec. 11, it was announced Tuesday. The session will be from 9 until 12 noon, it was stated.

Peerenboom and Thomas Abbot, Mrs. M. Hutchinson is the teacher of the second year class and Mrs. John Morgan teaches the students in the third year classes.

The prevailing nationality in the local school this year is German, according to Mrs. Peerenboom, although Hollanders are a close second. Other nations represented are Armenia, Italy, Greece, Russia, Australia, Poland, Syria and Belgium.

ANXIOUS TO LEARN

Another peculiar fact about the students registered at the local school is the speed with which they locate the school after arriving in Appleton for the first time. One case was told of a young foreigner who arrived in Appleton at 11:45 in the morning and at 7:15 the same evening he was enrolled in class and attending the local school. Another instance was given of a mother and father and a son and daughter who arrived in Appleton at 6:10 in the evening and at 7:30 they were all enrolled in a beginner's class. "Their desire to learn the English language is very great and they are usually very conscientious and will work diligently to overcome obstacles," Mrs. Peerenboom said.

ONLY 5 MORE DAYS ALLOWED FOR MEET OF COUNTY BOARD

Must Readjust Budget if Attorney Rules Law Was Violated

With but 5 more allowed for county board meetings to use up the annual quota of 20 days for such deliberations, speculation is rife in political circles as to how long it will take to readjust the budget if the attorney general holds that the county has exceeded its rights in going above the $2-million for highway purposes.

Opinion varies from 2 hours to the full 5 days. The supervisors are allowed per diem and mileage for 20 days of official board business and if a meeting were to be prolonged beyond that limit there is no loophole in the statutes to provide pay for the members, it was pointed out.

Repeal of each individual appropriation of the highway budget involved could be so clouded with parliamentary tactics as to guarantee a long session if feeling runs high on the board floor, several members declared.

It seems improbable that any other than tax questions will be brought up.

PAT MALONE GRANTED RESPIRE FROM JAIL

Madison — (P) — Pat Malone, Ku Klux Klan lecturer, gained a respite from his year's sentence in the Oconto County jail for criminal libel Wednesday when the supreme court ordered his release on $1,000 bail, pending the outcome of his appeal to the high court. Malone's appeal from the sentence of the Oconto court will be heard by the supreme court at the February term. The lecturer was convicted of making libelous statements concerning an Oconto Falls Catholic priest from the stump. He was given a year in the county jail upon his conviction recently and had commenced serving his sentence.

DRUNKEN DRIVER-CASE TO BE HEARD THURSDAY

Trial of J. W. Welch, an oil station operator, charged by city police with driving an automobile while intoxicated, was to be held before Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Welch was arrested two weeks ago when her car is alleged to have gone into a ditch on Onida-st near the C. and N. W. Railroad station.

At the time of his arraignment the defendant pleaded not guilty and asked for postponement to bring a witness to Appleton. The stay was granted by Judge Berg. Mr. Welch employed counsel to fight his case. The city attorney was to appear for the police department.

SANDMAN BEATS FIREMEN TO AUTOMOBILE FIRE

The sandman isn't always in the employ of Morphus, contrary to long-fostered public opinion, as will be testified to by John Smith, from the rural districts of Outagamie-co.

Late Wednesday afternoon Mr. Smith's automobile short-circuited on College-ave at Walnut-st, and a merry blaze started. For a few minutes it appeared as though the Smith machine was going to be demolished by flames — but the "sandman" came along and throwing a few shovels full of gravel, which he was hauling by truck, the rescuer soon effected his work.

The fire department responded to a call but returned almost immediately.

Inconsistent Woman Forces Male To Don Winter 'Heavies'

Wives and mothers think their men need heavy underwear but wear the sheerest of silk themselves, one Appleton merchant responded to the query, "Do men still wear 'heavies' and what men wear them?"

From 60 to 70 per cent of the men's underwear business at this time of year is in the heavier styles, the merchants agreed, but this does not mean that so large a percentage still wear it. This is the height of the "heavies" season. The men who continue to wear the short and sleeveless styles do not all buy it in the fall.

Young men as a rule stock up in the spring, and wear the same weight and style through the year, one dealer said.

Women buy more of the heavy ones than the men do, perhaps because women are supposed to be better judges of quality with heavy material. Another advance the theory that it was a woman's instigation that men wore the warmer things in winter.

SOME DON'T CHARGE

Although nearly 70 per cent of the winter business is in the more substantial underwear, more than half of the men in Appleton do not change their styles with the seasons. Dealers who specialize in young men's accessories, said that the percentage was as high as 70 that wore the so-called summer underwear all year.

The old theory that with the snow comes the red flannels, has practically exploded, and sensibly so, it was said. With steam heated houses, the temperature is often higher than

FASTIDIOUS HOBO LEAVES HIS SOCKS IN POLICE STATION

They're mighty fine socks for the shape they're in—according to the police department, now the proud but rather puzzled possessors of one pair of lacy footwear, washed and ready for use.

Wednesday night, among a half dozen men who sought shelter from the cold, one apparently decided to accomplish a little either necessary or luxury laundry work while a guest in the city jail.

Fortified with breakfast the sinner saluted forth early Thursday to greet another day.

In looking over the cells after their departure the desk sergeant found a pair of recently washed hair hose of rather startling pattern, and, as he said,—

"A fine pair of socks—for the shape they're in."

The owner probably can retrieve his property upon identification.

ROAD MAINTENANCE IS ENDED FOR YEAR

Each year the number of men who relinquish the old ceremony of the red flannels on Dec. 1, diminishes. Five years ago probably 20 per cent more men wore the long-legged, long-sleeved woolens than do today, and ten years ago practically every man pulled them out of the moth balls, or visited the haberdashers to get his winter supply.

MUSIC AND DANCING IN H. S. OPERETTA

Large Number of Students Will Take Part in School Production

Music and dancing will play important parts in "The Belle of Barcelona," operetta to be given by the Appleton high school at Fischer's Appleton theatre Monday evening, Dec. 6. Soloists and singing choruses have been trained by Carl McKee, director of music at the school, and the dancing choruses have been in charge by Miss Ruth McKenna, dramatic teacher.

A dancing chorus of 12 girls will give solo and specialty numbers. Members of the group are Sybelle Plank, Mae Bogan, Bernice Parker, Eileen Dutcher, Dorothy Schubert, Marie Schmidt, Trudy Weber, Helen Schneider, Lucille Kranholz, Leona Captain, Florence Nelson, and Ruth Gillett.

Soloists for the play are Richard Joyce, bass; Beatrice Segal, contralto, Margaret Heckle, soprano; Evelyn Kreiss, soprano; William Meyer, high baritone or tenor; Carl Nelson, high baritone; Donna Herrman, mezzo-soprano.

"What'll I give that girl of mine?" is every man's complaint.

HAIR
Class Conducted by Herbert Rooston
Class: "Oh, teacher, quick brush up your 100-kilowatt intellect and give us a spin on hair."

Teacher: "Hair is what keeps the manufacturer of combs in business."
Class: "Is it good for anything?"
Teacher: "It is useful for stuffing mattresses. While it still adorns the human dome, it is of no use whatever. While men have hair, they go to the barber shop to have it cut off. When they lose it, they go to the barber shop to make it grow."
Class: "Do women have their hair cut, too?"

Teacher: "Yes. Women have their hair cut because it's more convenient that way. Since women started cutting their hair, the number of beauty parlors has been multiplied by ten."
Class: "What does that prove?"
Teacher: "That bobbed hair requires less care."
Class: "Is it true that gentlemen prefer blondes?"

Teacher: "Yes. They also prefer brunettes."

Class: "Supposing a person's hair were coming out. Could you recommend something to keep it in?"

Teacher: "Almost any sort of box will do."

Class: "Is it true that baldheadedness is a sign of brains?"

Teacher: "Well, there's more meat in a coconut than there is in a stone."

Class: "Is the head the only place where hair is found?"

Teacher: "No. It is also found in the lapels of ready-made coats and on the floors of barber shops."

Class: "Is it true that since probitom some men drink hair tonic?"

Teacher: "Yes, but it doesn't matter. It goes to the head, anyhow."

Class: "This has been a charming session, dear teacher. We hope you're not tired."

Teacher: "No. Come in again whenever you feel up to it."

Dear Mr. Judell:
My boss' name is Tharp. He writes one tune all the while he's working. It gets on my nerves. Can you write a limerick that would serve as a hint?

Rose P. De Meyer.
Dear R. P. D.: Judge for yourself. There was a young fellow named Tharp,

Who hummed in the key of G sharp;
He hummed night and noon;
At one lone, single tune—
He's playing it now on a harp!

KAUKAUNA - LITTLE CHUTE - KIMBERLY

NEARBY
TOWNSMERCHANTS HOLD
ANOTHER CONTEST
FOR POPULAR GIRLSOffer Prize for Most Popular
Young Woman in City and Country

Kaukauna—It was decided to hold another girls' popularity contest for Kaukauna and the rural communities surrounding the city at a regular meeting of the Kaukauna Business Men's association in Elk hall Tuesday evening. The contest is to open on Monday, Dec. 6 and will continue until the evening of Friday, Dec. 24. All girls in the city of Kaukauna and the rural communities, not over the age of 18 are eligible to enter the contest according to N. Haupt, president of the association. Prizes will be awarded to the most popular girls in the city and three prizes will be awarded to the most popular girls in the rural districts. Votes will be secured through regular retail purchase only. Last year various corporations in the city doing large business at local stores gave their votes to certain individuals making it very unfair to the others. This has been done away with this year and votes will only be given by retail purchase. Most of the stores in the city are expected to cooperate in the contest. A total of $12.50 will be given away in cash.

Three prizes of $25, $15 and $10 will be offered to those from the rural districts. Those who enter the contest may have any number of people save votes for them.

It was also decided at the meeting to have a Santa Claus in the city during the week preceding Christmas. He will pay particular attention to the kiddies.

The merchants will co-operate with the Tri-County Fair association in making the December fair a success.

PIGEON FANCIERS
PLAN BUSY SEASONMore Birds Than Ever Before
Will Be Entered in Spring
Races

Kaukauna—Plans for a big year of pigeon racing were made at a meeting of the Kaukauna Pigeon club in the council rooms of the municipal building here Tuesday. The club will start its spring races early and plans to fly a great many more birds in 1927 than it did this year. Henry Buetow joined the Auto company team and is making the club, bringing the total membership up to 23. Most of the lots have from 50 to 100 birds. Many of the members fly their young birds in the fall races of the club. There are but three clubs in the north end of the valley and two of them are at Green Bay. Several Appleton men are members of the local club. Last season a westerly course was adopted for racing season which ended with a five hundred mile race to Mitchell, S. D.

The club decided to order 1,000 leg bands for the racing season numbering from 1,000 to 2,000. Officers for the coming year elected at the meeting were: President, Carl Ploetz; vice-president, Leo Haessly and secretary and treasurer, Norman Lang. Another meeting will be held in the spring when the racing committee for 1927 will be named.

EMPHASIS ON POULTRY

Kaukauna—More attention will be paid to poultry at the regular monthly Tri-County fair to be held here in Saturday, Dec. 11, it was decided at a meeting of the association Tuesday evening in the Elk's hall. In the past, pigs generally have been featured and as a result the sale of pigs in the farming territory surrounding Kaukauna has been greatly increased as now is the plan of the association to increase the sales of poultry from the Kaukauna farming district as well. It is expected that the roads will be in such a condition so that the farmers will be able to get to the city for the fair.

The Post-Crescent's representative at Kaukauna is Gordon Patton. His telephone numbers are 298 J and 10. Business with The Post-Crescent may be transacted through Mr. Patton.

MAIL IS INCREASING
AS HOLIDAYS APPROACH

Kaukauna—Much Christmas mail is being sent to the foreign countries now according to a statement made by Postmaster A. R. Mills, Wednesday. Included in this mail is a large number of parcels consigned for the most part to Germany, with Norway and Sweden running a close second. Germany also ranks first in the number of money orders for foreign countries.

With the Christmas season rapidly approaching the amount of mail handled in the local office is increasing by leaps and bounds. Parcel post for local distribution will be much more easily handled this year with the arrival of four parcel post baskets. Parcel post will be sorted in the local office according to the section of the city it is in thus making it more convenient for the parcel postman to handle and also making a quicker delivery possible. Postmaster Mills again warns against the late mailing of Christmas packages if they are to be received before Christmas. One delivery will be made on Christmas morning this year.

LEGION WILL DELIVER
YULE BASKETS TO NEEDY

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Post of the American Legion will distribute Christmas baskets to the poor of the city the day before Christmas. A Good Fellowship club has been organized by the Legion men and cash donations are being received with which to buy the food and clothing for the poor. Those interested in contributing may leave their cash donations with either George Dogot at the First National Bank, Henry Oln at the Farmers and Merchants Bank or Gordon Almstrom at the Bank of Kaukauna. Dr. E. J. Boliske is chairman of the committee in charge of the baskets. On the day before Christmas the Legion men will go out and distribute the baskets to all the homes of the poor in the city.

The rural carriers are still using automobiles. Both bad spots on the north side routes have been caused by snow drifting where the weeds were not cut this summer. No mail can be delivered at those places as long as the roads aren't open.

ROOSEVELT PUPILS ISSUE ANOTHER PAPER

Students of Roosevelt junior high school have published the second issue of the Roosevelt News, weekly paper of the school. The edition is larger than any previous numbers issued in 1925 or 1926, containing six pages rather than the usual four.

Articles on extra-curricular and social activities of the school and class notes are contained in the paper. John Lonsdorf is editor-in-chief of the Roosevelt News, and Willard Peterson is make-up editor. Members of the printing classes manage the mechanical production of the paper under the direction of Leonard Peterson of the printing department. Miss Josephine Broderick, head of the English department, is editorial sponsor of the paper.

LEGION PROVIDES FLAG CODES FOR SCHOOLS

Flag codes have been distributed to the teachers and principals of the Appleton public schools for the purpose of demonstrating the proper ways of saluting, displaying and honoring the national emblem. The material in poster form has been provided by the American Legion through the National Americanism commission. Garland W. Powell is director of the commission.

The code describes the acceptable ways of displaying bunting, in which position the stars of the flag should be, and other situations that should be known by the American school children, the superintendent said.

MICHIGAN AGGIE HEAD VISITOR AT LAWRENCE

Dr. Kenyon L. Butterfield, president of Michigan State college in Lansing, Mich., was a guest of R. M. Watts, business manager at Lawrence college, Wednesday. Both formerly were members of the faculty of Massachusetts Agricultural college at Amherst, Mass.

Dr. Butterfield visited the campus of buildings while there. The plan of a new and separate boys' campus at the college, adopted by the board of trustees at the semi-annual meeting on Tuesday, was approved by the visitor. Judging the proposition both from the side of the individual school and from the educational advantages, the movement is a splendid one, Dr. Butterfield maintained.

TEST PUPILS TO LEARN TEACHING WEAKNESSES

Mathematics tests were started in the grade schools by F. E. Younger, principal of the McKinley junior high school. Wednesday and each pupil in the city schools will take the standard tests to determine where instruction should be emphasized. Students of the junior high schools were given the Woody-McCall mechanics and Stone reasoning tests before the Thanksgiving vacation.

When the tests have been completed the teachers will meet with Mr. Younger to diagnose the errors and prescribe remedial work. The number of times students make the same error would indicate, it is believed, that enough stress has not been laid in the instruction, and the condition will be rectified. In the reasoning tests, the committee will decide which thinking processes were weak, and base the emphasis of further teaching on these weaknesses.

HISTORY OF MOTION PICTURES.

"Who's Who in the Movies," a new booklet from our Washington Information Bureau, includes a history of the movies, a description of how pictures are made and distributed, data about the industry and its vast scope, and a "Who's Who" of the movie stars. These and other features make it the most interesting of movie publications. Being especially compiled for the information and entertainment of readers of this paper, the new booklet may be had for a few cents for cost and handling. Use the coupon.
